HUGHES COMMENDS WORK OF CHAMBER

Secretary of State Points Out Higher Civic Standards Attained Through Cooperation of Business Men—Trefz an Internationally Known Speaker.

George W. Van Slyke, president of the Albany Chamber of Commerce, received the following letter from Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes which only makes more clear the fact that big caliber men believe very sincerely in the value of the Chamber of Commerce or similar organizations:

The Secretary of State,
Washington, May 9, 1923.

My Dear Mr. Van Slyke:

It is gratifying to know of the work that is being done by the Albany Chamber of Commerce. It is impossible adequately to promote the prosperity of our cities without the effective organization of business men who not only understand needs and possibilities but who are most competent to give direction to municipal effort. The development of the sense of civic responsibility always follows such cooperation and the gains to the community far exceed the mere material benefits of business enterprise.

In the last analysis, the soundness of our national life will depend upon the standards maintained in our cities in which to so large a degree are concentrated the activities of our expanding population. I send my best wishes for the utmost success in your endeavor.

With high regard, I am, very sincerely yours,
(Signed) CHARLES E. HUGHES.

The chamber is an organization of citizens interested in their community, including a preponderance of business men, but with membership open to all—rendering special service to its members but putting primary emphasis on work of benefit to the community as a whole.

The work of the Chamber of Commerce can be successful just in proportion as its members realize that their own interests are most enhanced by the promotion of plans benefiting the entire community, and can convince the community that it is sincere in its efforts and is not trying to put something over for the benefit of any special group.

A Chamber of Commerce can succeed only through the energy, devotion and team work of its members working along lines and for objects that command the intelligent support of a large part of the community, as well as of its members.

The Chamber is what its members make it. Every one has heard these arguments many, many times and yet right here in Kingston there are many who, knowing all this, remain on the outside and criticize rather than becoming members and endeavoring by constructive efforts and service to build up the organization to meet the needs of the city.

All members and friends who can arrange to do so should plan to be members meeting on Monday, June 11th, 8 p. m. at the Eagle Hotel.

Mr. Trefz who has the endorsement of every prominent Chamber of Commerce in the country, will be the speaker.

Mr. Trefz was national field secretary of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce from the beginning of the organization until the United States went into the Great War. He then resigned to go to France, England and Italy as a member of the overseas Food Commission, serving until the close of the war.

He is an authority on the subject of the development of the community and the obligation that business owes to the community.

He remarks that the best he can say for himself is that no audience has yet gone to sleep while he was speaking.

Tickets for this meeting must be reserved before Monday noon, June 11th.

ARTHUR J. BURNS,
President, Kingston
Chamber of Commerce.

DRY LEAGUE FORMS PROGRAM

Hopeless to Push New State Enforcement Law With Present Governor and Senate—Will Sponsor "Local Option Enforcement" and Await 1924.

A statement was issued in New York Tuesday by the board of directors of the Anti-Saloon League outlining the league's legislative program for 1923 and 1924 announces that the league will not waste any effort in supporting at the next legislative session any state enforcement measure to take the place of the Mullan-Gage law, just repealed. Any such measure is foredoomed to defeat, with the same senate and governor in power, the statement says. Anyone who sponsors such a measure will be regarded by the league as "playing the enemy's game."

Next winter, the league will have introduced and push for enactment the enabling "triplets" allowing any city, village or town to enact ordinances in aid of any statute of the state or of the United States, a sort of local option to enforce prohibition. This, it is stated, will give Governor Smith a chance to approve measures carrying out his statement that he favors a referendum on enforcement.

In 1924, with the election of a new governor and legislature, the league will try to elect candidates pledged to state enforcement.

LAST SOCIAL OF YEAR FOR "Y" BOYS' DEPARTMENT

The final social of the year for the members of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. will be held this Friday night. The event is a theater party to be held at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium, first performance. The feature is "The Yosemite Trail." This party is intended for the members of the "Y" only. Each member is expected to come and to bring a lady friend with him. After the show, refreshments will be served in the boys' rooms of the "Y," to which all boys bringing a lady will be admitted. Through the courtesy of the management a large section has been reserved for the party. Tickets must be gotten from the office in the boys' department. As this is the last social of the year, the social committee is hoping a large number of boys will turn out to make it a royal affair.

GENERAL RISE IN COST OF LIVING IN BIG TOWNS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, June 7.—A majority of the great American public had to pay more for the joy of living during the month of May than in the preceding months, the department of labor announced today. Armed with reports from 22 scattered cities, the department declared the retail cost of food had increased in 15 communities indicating a general rise in the old "high cost of living."

Philadelphia showed the greatest increase of four per cent. Seven cities showed one per cent increase.

VOTERS' LITERACY TEST STRICTER

Certificate is Required of Those Who Have Not Completed Eighth Grade Work School.

Superintendent of Schools Michael is in receipt of a letter from the Bureau of Immigrant Education, State Department of Education, under date of May 29, 1923, calling his attention to an important amendment to the literacy test law which has been signed by the governor and became a law. The following is a quotation from the letter:

"This bill does away with the present secretary of state test and gives the regents of New York state—and through them the school authorities—sole power to devise and administer the literacy test.

"It provides that no new voter may be registered by the election inspectors without presenting a certificate of literacy granted by the the school authorities as evidence of ability to read and write English. It applies to those sections of the state where personal registration is required, as well as to those sections where personal registration is not required.

"A certificate of literacy need not be presented under this amendment by those who, at the time of registration, present a diploma of graduation from an eighth grade elementary school, or school of higher grade where English is the language of instruction in this state or elsewhere. But a certificate of literacy must be presented if candidates do not show such a diploma."

The State Department of Education will soon formulate rules for giving the literacy test to all new voters, which will be published as soon as they reach the local school authorities.

STORK VISITED FORSYTH PARK

This week the stork paid a visit to the deer enclosure at Forsyth Park and left two pretty little fawns which will be a decided attraction to the park's many visitors this summer. As told in The Freeman recently the buck and doe deer at the park were separated so that the buck would not harm the additions to the deer herd when they arrived.

GERMANY ASKS ANOTHER CONFERENCE TO FIX AMOUNT OF REPARATIONS

And Determine Method of Payment—Offers System of Annuities Beginning in 1927 of Which 1,200,000,000 Gold Marks Would be Guaranteed From Levy on Industries.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, June 7.—Germany's new reparations offer, which was delivered to the foreign office this afternoon, suggests a conference with the Allies to fix the amount of reparations Germany must pay and the method of paying. German embassy officials predicted if the offer was unacceptable the Cuno government at Berlin will resign.

The note says if an international loan is impracticable Germany is ready to substitute a system of annuities.

Germany offers to guarantee receipts from the railroads, setting aside for the reparations account 500,000,000 gold marks annually, beginning July 1, 1927.

The government promises to subject business, banking, industry, agriculture and traffic to a first mortgage levying a tax which will yield 500,000,000 gold marks annually.

Customs and excise duties (on goods not necessities) are pledged and it is estimated these will bring about 200,000,000 gold marks annually.

ROOSA ACTION TO JURY SOON

No Other Cases To Be Tried And Talesmen Are Excused—Pleas May Dispose Of Several Cases Next Tuesday.

Testimony in the assault action brought by William D. Roosa against Dr. James Oliver was concluded this morning and court went into recess until 2 o'clock when the case was to be summed up and submitted to the jury. The action is brought for alleged assault which took place in Sahler's store at Stone Ridge on March 30, 1920 when plaintiff claims he was assaulted by the doctor and received injuries which were painful and caused him to be laid up for a time.

According to the testimony of plaintiff Dr. Oliver was the aggressor while Dr. Oliver claims that he was attacked by Mr Roosa and was forced to defend himself. The affair however was started over some question in regard to family matters which Mr. Roosa put to Dr. Oliver. Dr. Roosa testifying that Roosa asked him about his family and he replied that he did not want to discuss family matters in public. This he testified caused Mr. Roosa to call him a cheat or some words to that effect and Dr. Oliver replied that he never cheated anyone out of a nickel and stated that there was some Van Leuven blood in Roosa. This the doctor claims caused Mr. Roosa to jump up from his seat and attack him. The doctor claims that Roosa grabbed him by the throat and he struck in defence.

Mr. Roosa claims that he remained on the seat during the conversation and that Dr Oliver came over and hit him while he was seated, knocking him over on a show-case and breaking it and that after this the doctor beat him up. J. N. Vandellyn appears for Dr. Oliver with Judge Jenkins of counsel and Andrew J. Cook appears for plaintiff.

No other cases will be tried at this term of court and all jurors not on the present case were excused this morning for the term. Court will convene next Tuesday when pleas in criminal matters will be received by the court. Several cases are expected to be disposed of in this way without trial.

Quartieres Each Pay $200 Fine and Their 11 Barrels of Wine Are Ordered Returned

Sheriff is Also Directed to Empty 41 Cases of Home Brew "Suds" and Return the Bottles.

In county court Wednesday afternoon Judge Joseph M. Fowler signed an order directing Sheriff Kolts to return to the owners 11 barrels of wine which was seized on May 3 at East Kingston at the Quartiere place and to destroy the contents of the bottles of 41 cases of home brew beer and then turn the empty containers over to the owners Thomas and John Quartiere. Frank W. Brooks appears for the Quartieres.

The order directs the sheriff to turn over to the owner the 11 barrels of wine and also the bottles after having first destroyed the contents. This means that the sheriff and his deputies will have to play the part of bartenders and open every one of the nine hundred and eighty four bottles and empty the contents not in "schooners" but in the sewer.

This order to return the wine and the bottles was secured Wednesday afternoon after John and Thomas Quartiere had entered a plea of guilty to a violation of the Mullan-Gage law, now repealed, and had been fined $200 each by the court. The fine was paid in court. The charge against them was a violation of subdivision 2, section 1212 of penal law, that of having intoxicating liquors in their possession.

At what hour the ceremonies will commence at the court house was not made known but at whatever hour it takes place there will undoubtedly be a large crowd of spectators present to get a last, and perhaps longing look at the "suds".

FOR SALE AT MARKET GARDEN

The following is a list of the articles that will be for sale by the members of the Ulster Garden Club at the market garden to be held at Academy Park all day Friday unless rainy when it will be held the first following fair day.

HIGHLAND.

Highland, June 7.—On Friday afternoon, June 1st, the meeting of the Auxiliary Club at the home of Mrs. Harry Traver was a scene of business and pleasure. About 50 were present. It was an inspiring occasion for both the members and the president. The devotional exercises were conducted by the Rev. and Mrs. F. A. Coons. The members decided to paper the parsonage and purchase a china closet. Several pieces of furniture have been given for the parsonage by Miss Belle Brinckerhoff, which were very much appreciated. There were four names of new members voted on and elected as active members. They were Mrs. Lorin Schantz, Miss Kathryn Schantz, Mrs. Louis Palmer and Miss Marjorie Melins. Cheering and gratifying are the conditions and prospects of the club. We are proud of our order and consider it a privilege to meet once a month to review past work and plan for new. Let all remember that the July meeting is the time for collection of dues. Let all collectors see as many as possible before meeting and those who do not pay before meeting please bring your dues at meeting July 6 at "Glen View" home of the president. The hospitable ladies who were the hostesses were Mrs. J. W. Feeter, Mrs. C. J. Elting, Mrs. Harry Traver and Miss Frances Bruyn. They made all feel at home and during the recreation period served brick ice cream, delicious strawberries, home made cake, and coffee which every one enjoyed and when they left for home expressions of praise and good wishes were given to those people who entertained.

Harold Upright and his mother had a fine motor trip on Memorial Day. They put in the time at Ashokan Dam.

Miss Ruth Whitley had as her recent guest a school friend from New Paltz.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wadlin of White street had as their Sunday guests, Mrs. F. Wadlin and sons of Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Martin spent Sunday in Grahamsville as the guests of the Aldrich family, also Mr. and Mrs. Kurtz and daughter Fannie.

Marcus Rose of Poughkeepsie was in town Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Griffin of Vineyard avenue have returned home after spending some time in the south with relatives.

Dr. and Mrs. Webster Terwilliger of Clintondale road have had recent guests from Brooklyn.

Mrs. R. G. Brundage entertained Mr. and Mrs. George Elmendorf of New Jersey the past week.

J. Wadlin's new house on White street is coming on very nicely and will soon be finished and also rented. Plenty of people want houses.

Movies on Monday and Tuesday evenings for firemen's benefit. Be sure and go.

Mrs. Amelia Dickinson entertained a house party over the week end. Her daughter, Miss Bessie, came up from New Jersey and with her a number of friends. They all had a grand time.

Mrs. Philip Schantz has been elected Music Study Club president for the second year.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Metcalf have as their guests a relative from Summerville, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Van Wert had as their guest recently Mrs. Ford Lasher of Poughkeepsie.

The Rev. and Mrs. F. A. Coons were in Poughkeepsie Monday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Auwater entertained Mrs. M. Kratt of Poughkeepsie recently.

Mrs. Henry Hovet's building presents a fine appearance as Frank Van Wert and Perry Hitchcock have just finished painting it. The Hovets will come from New York as soon as school closes for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. P. F. O'Rourke of this place and California are here for the summer. Mr. O'Rourke's daughter, who is in school in Newburgh, spent the week end here with her people.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whittaker also Mr. and Mrs. John Dusenbery spent the week end in Amsterdam.

Mrs. R. H. Decker, past matron of Highland Chapter, also past D. D. G. M. of O. E. S., has received a special invitation to attend a golden jubilee of an O. E. S. Chapter the last of this month. She also has invitations for some other fine affairs among various orders to which she belongs.

Miss A. Terwilliger of White street had Sunday guests from Pine Bush.

"Hillair" people are getting ready for one of the boat crews. Mrs. Ames at the Elms also expects a large crew.

Strawberry Festival.

A strawberry festival will be held on the grounds adjacent to the parish house of St. John's Church tomorrow evening by the young men of the church composing the Order of Sir Galahad.

SALE FOR BLIND PROCEEDS GROW

As the week comes to a close, the interest in and patronage of the sale of articles made by the state's busy blind people, at 776 Broadway, increases. The ladies of the Episcopal Churches were in charge on Wednesday and customers kept on coming long after 8 o'clock in the evening, the supposed closing hour. Over $100 worth of articles were sold. There are some clever mechanical articles as well as those made by some sort of needle or woven. The articles fill one with amazement over their beauty, perfection of workmanship and reasonable pricing. Today the ladies of the various Roman Catholic Churches will be in charge of the sale.

WEST SAUGERTIES.

West Saugerties, June 6.—Mrs. Annie Weeks and daughter from Schenectady were guests of Mrs. Lottie Myer for a couple of days last week.

Mrs. John Cole spent the holidays in Kingston with her sister, Mrs. Andrew Shrader.

Millard Carn has purchased a new car.

Vernon Engelman and wife of Schenectady spent Sunday a week ago with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mott.

Mrs. Mount entertained company over Decoration Day.

We have no less than six families by the name of Brown in our little hamlet.

Mrs. Pellesier was called away by the sickness of her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cordes and Mrs. Elsie Engelman were Sunday visitors in the place.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Minkler and children of Saugerties were Sunday guests at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Minkler.

Mr. and Mrs. Gosslee of Tannersville spent Sunday with Mrs. Lottie Myer and her father, D. W. Cole.

James Cole and wife are spending some time in Tannersville.

New Victor Records Special Issue

Swingin' Down the Lane — Great White Way Orchestra
Beside a Babbling Brook — Great White Way Orchestra
Two fox trots. One of them smooth and quiet in style, the other one with Bob-White calls and a whistling chorus. Both are in wholesome, country boy manner. They are played with fine finish.
No. 19058 10-inch List Price 75c

Barney Google — Georgie Price
I Love Me — Billy Murray
Barney Google is the cartoon hero, whose adventures Georgie Price retails in a good, loud singing voice, with spoken bits. Billy Murray's hero is a cake-eating Narcissus who likes himself. This number is a great bit of characterization. No. 19066 10-inch List Price 75c

Yes! We Have No Bananas — Great White Way Orchestra
Morning Will Come — Zez Confrey and His Orchestra
"Yes! We Have No Bananas" has a vocal refrain by Billy Murray and interesting orchestral effects at the beginning and end. "Morning Will Come" has no voices but plenty of orchestra.
No. 19068 10-inch List Price 75c

You've Got to See Mamma Ev'ry Night — Tennessee Ten
Nuthin' But — Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra
First record by the Tennessee Ten, and a fine dance from the funniest of songs. On the other side, a superbly finished Paul Whiteman fox trot with the Whiteman beauty of orchestration and the Whiteman technique greatly in evidence. No. 19073 10-inch List Price 75c

WALKER VALLEY.

Walker Valley, June 7.—The Ladies' Aid will hold a fair August 7th. The Ladies' Auxiliary will hold theirs August 2. On August 9 the Rev. Walter Lofthouse of Tremont M. E. Church, New York, will give a lecture on "Rambles in Yorkshire." This is an illustrated lecture with 170 colored slides. It will be held in the local church.

On Saturday, May 26, Mrs. Plantz and daughters the Misses Amelia and Ruth of Williamsbridge, N. Y., motored to Walker Valley to Judge E. E. Murray's bungalow. Miss Amelia returned Sunday leaving Mrs. Plantz and Miss Ruth for the week. Miss Amelia will return Saturday to drive the party home.

The Walker families of Walden celebrated Decoration Day here at the church and fire house with their friends. It is their custom every year to visit the cemetery on that day.

At Harrigan's field the Pine Bush boys played the Walker Valley boys an 11-inning game. The score was Walker Valley, 8; Pine Bush, 7.

We are glad to hear John Niver who has been ill, is able to be around again.

Miss Sadie Bunce of Brooklyn is guest at Mrs. George W. Evans.

Mrs. George Lippert and daughter June have gone to Cragsmoor. Miss Edythe Keller went with them.

On Friday, June 1, Miss E. Peoples of Middletown came to the Walker Valley church to organize the Standard Bearers. Officers were elected: President, Miss Ida Evans; secretary, Miss Edith Hauser; treasurer, Miss Ruth Ellis.

Wednesday, June 6th, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Evans celebrated their thirtieth wedding anniversary. Their friends here gave them a miscellaneous shower at their new home.

Our school closed with a picnic at Mrs. Seamons grove. All had a good time. The teacher Arthur Cross, has gone to Middletown. We hope he will return to us in September. Mrs. Cross and little Shirley have also gone and all will attend the wedding of Miss Belle Cross, Mr. Cross's sister. After a week's stay Mrs. Cross and Shirley will return to Fir Tree farm for a while.

"THE ADVANCE" IS ADVANCING

With Addition of Clearwater Store Space Wall Street Restaurant Will Be One of Largest Along River—Clearwater to Move to 306½ and Everett to 318.

William von Berg, proprietor of von Berg's Advance Restaurant in The Advance Building, opposite the court house on Wall street, has leased the adjoining store in The Advance building, now occupied by Ralph D. Clearwater, and on taking possession of the premises on June 18 will add that space to his present restaurant.

The addition of the Clearwater store will give The Advance Restaurant additional seating capacity for 120 persons. For banquets, when tables are arranged in a different way than is necessary for ordinary restaurant purposes, the addition will give even greater seating capacity. The interior of the new addition to the restaurant will be remodelled so that it can be used for banquet purposes or dances, for dinner parties, etc., and also will be arranged so as to provide private dining rooms when desired.

The new addition will be connected with the present restaurant by an arch and when the two places are thus connected the restaurant will be one of the largest restaurants between New York and Albany. The experience of the past three years has shown the inadequacy of restaurant facilities in Kingston but the opening of the new addition to The Advance will completely overcome this difficulty and provide an eating place capable of caring for the constantly increasing number of tourists and visitors.

The lunch counter service will be retained in the present quarters and both counter and table service will continue to be prompt and efficient. The excellence of the cuisine, which has achieved an enviable reputation among tourists as well as Kingstonians, will be maintained. The restaurant will be open, as at present, from 6 a. m. to 2 a. m.

Since becoming proprietor of The Advance, Mr. von Berg has supplied Kingston with a restaurant of high quality whose reputation is much more than county-wide.

Mr. Clearwater on June 18 will take possession of the building at No. 306½ Wall street, formerly occupied by Charles B. Everett's bakery, and will continue his ladies' and men's furnishings business there. The sales store of the Everett bakery will remove from that address to the store of the Grand Union Tea Company at No. 318 Wall street, where new sales counters especially adapted to the bakery business are now being installed.

Butterflies as Food.

Butterflies, which are very prolific in Australia, are suffocated in thousands by the aborigines, and, separated from their wings, pressed into cakes and eaten.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank relatives and friends for the beautiful floral tributes and also Brotherhood of the Railway Clerks.

Bears Pasteur Tribute To France

MISS ELIZABETH GREGG, Good Will Delegate, who in recognition of the Pasteur Centennial is bearing a testimonial to the French health officials from the Health Department of New York City. Miss Gregg for twenty years was superintendent of nurses in the Health Department and Senator Royal S. Copeland chose her as its representative in the New York Good Will Election when he was Health Commissioner in that city. She sailed with the New York Group of the Good Will Delegation May 23 to spend a month in France under the auspices of the American Committee for Devastated France.

Odd Experience.

Being a stranger in Chicago, I made arrangements to be met by my cousin at one of the entrances to a well-known department store. After a fruitless wait of 30 minutes I went inside to a telephone booth, intending to call her house, to learn what was delaying her. After depositing a nickel, a pounding on the glass partition of the booth caused me to stop, look and listen. There was my cousin in the very next booth trying to get her house also. We had been waiting at different entrances. —Chicago Journal.

Photographic Statuettes.

Recently introduced into this country from Europe is a very interesting method of making photographic statuettes. The subject is photographed in the usual way. The paper print is then cut out, following the exact outline of the figure. This is pasted on to a mahogany board 3-16-inch thick, which is cut away to match the photograph. When mounted on a small pedestal, this picture stands out in relief so that it looks like an actual statuette.

Get Nerve Force from Nuxated Iron

It will strengthen your nerves and increase your vigor and endurance, often in two weeks' time. It contains the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force in a form which most nearly resembles that in the brain and nerve cells of man. It also contains organic iron like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. Organic iron enriches the blood and plenty of rich red blood means more nerve force, so that Nuxated Iron not only feeds what might be termed artificial nerve force to the nerve cells, but it stimulates the blood to manufacture a greatly increased supply of new nerve force. Get a bottle of Nuxated Iron today, and if within two weeks' time you do not feel that it has increased your nerve force, and made you feel better and stronger in every way, your money will be refunded. Sold by all druggists.

Many Use Gay Ribbon to Remake Old Frocks

Ben Hur is said to have been fond of ribbons and to have appreciated their beauty. He had them streaming from his chariot; his white horses wore them in their manes and tails. Male scoffers of today wear ribbon watch fobs, ribbon edging on their evening suits, ribbon hat bands and bows and ribbon sautoirs for their glasses, sometimes their pencils or fountain pens. Not to mention the little bow of ribbon inside every man's hat. And think of the ribbons and ribbons that the boys who fought in the World war won from our own as well as from allied countries. As to conventions and large gatherings where identification is necessary or wise, look at the badges!

Mary's dress was old. She had worn it last year. Yes, the year before last. And Mary was tired of that one good dress. She had little money, an eye for the beautiful, and she longed with all her girlish heart for the new dress she knew she couldn't have.

Every night when she had tucked herself into bed she lay and wished for a new dress and then, being a sensible Mary, she tried to decide how to make the old one new. At last she was rewarded for her efforts, for on her way home from work she saw beautiful ribbons displayed in one of the store windows. Ribbons tied into the most bewitching bows! "I'll make it over with a new—oh, such a beautiful new sash," she decided, "with a bustle bow-sash." And she did. When her very best friend remarked upon her new dress and asked where she got it, she answered happily, if in vernacular, "Got it, you mean! Three years ago, but it's the sash that makes it new, old dear."

Use Soap and Water to Clean Lacquered Brass

Lacquered brass should never be cleaned with metal polish or paste of any kind. Rub it up with a leather, or if the brass is much soiled wash it with soap and warm water, dry with a soft cloth, and polish with a leather.

Never use soda in the water as it removes the lacquer, but the brass may be washed with a sponge wrung out in vinegar and water.

Should the lacquer wear off and leave brown patches, the only thing to do is to relacquer it. Should the article be solid brass this is an easy matter. First boil the brass in hot soda water, dry in sawdust, then polish with any good metal polish.

Spring Decrees Printed Silks Are to Be Mode

"Have you bought your printed silk frock?" may easily be the question of the spring season. For spring, it is whispered, won't mention printed silks merely as part of milady's wardrobe. It decrees a season dominated by prints and there's no more argument. There couldn't be because the printed fabrics are so lovely you would never care to search further.

Solid colors still hold their prominent place for evening, but newer for afternoon modes and for informal evening wear are the fabrics over whose surface runs a design in delicate line tracery.

Shingled Locks.

The shingle, much worn in Paris, is threatening to supersede the bob in popularity. It gives a scooped-in appearance at the back of the head and is especially favored by the young woman who aspires to a sleek and boyish air. The hair is cropped close at the back, with the long hair from both sides meeting there.

OUR ALLIES REMEMBER.

"Since the Crusades," Carton de Wiart, the Belgian Prime Minister, is quoted as saying, "I do not know any enterprise that has done more honor to men than the intervention of America in the War. The children of the United States who fell are entitled more than our own children to the everlasting gratitude of those for whom moral law exists." Amid the after-war difficulties and disagreements it has looked at times as if some of our allies in the war had forgotten and no longer paid such tribute of gratitude, but when Memorial Day comes round it is the difficulties and disagreements that are forgotten, while gratitude and tender recollection alone speak as the graves of every American soldier buried in foreign soil is covered with spring flowers.

On this last Memorial Day all the American graves marked with white crosses were remembered—not only in France, where most of them are, but in Belgium, England, even Poland. At many points in France there were addresses and impressive ceremonies as well as flowers and prayers. Last year in that garden of roses near Paris, the Suresnes Cemetery, a chorus of French orphans sang the "Star Spangled Banner" in English. Whatever the difficulties and disagreements, whatever the demands of "politics" either in America or Europe, our allies in the great war have not forgotten. Those white-crossed American graves in Europe, enduring reminders of suffering and sacrifice in common, are a bond of sympathy which temporary political expediency will fail to sever.

A GOOD LAW.

Governor Smith has signed a bill which permits the woman voter to keep the secret of her age and requiring of her only that she swears she is "over 21." Obviously this is all that is necessary. The woman voter does not need to be 25 or 40 or 60 years of age; she merely needs to be "over 21." Why demand that she give her exact age when she has private reasons for not wishing to do so? The new law executed by Governor Smith's signature is a good law, one that ought to be enacted in every state now lacking in a similar provision.

But if this is good law for women, why should it not also be good law for men, particularly in these times of "equal rights?" The average man has not the same reason as the average woman for desiring to withhold his age from publication, but many men in these times of sharp industrial competition have good reason for wishing to do so. To be known as over 40, say, increases the difficulty of securing employment in many lines of work, and it is only fair that a man should be judged by his ability rather than by the exact number of his years. A man is as old as he looks, feels and works—no older. Many a man beyond the acceptable age is more active, more productive, and in the true sense younger, than many a man years his junior. If the "over 21" declaration were made sufficient for the voters of both sexes, no harm would be done and many a worthy man would be helped.

Asked if he would accept a nomination for president, Henry Ford replied that he "wouldn't step as far as from here to that rug to become king of England." Presumably the interviewers were too polite to remind him that they were discussing the White House, not Buckingham Palace.

Women are beginning to share in the joys (and sorrows) of inventors. It is stated that more patents were granted to women during ten recent years than during all the previous century of the Patent Office.

A German court has ruled that a doctor who makes a wrong diagnosis is liable for damages. The shrewd Chinese go even further than that; they pay the doctor when they are well and stop payment while they are ill.

Modern girls are not to blame for all their new ideas. Senator Ferris of Michigan told a graduating class of them the other day not to marry until they were able to support their husbands.

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper, enclosing self-addressed and stamped envelope for reply.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. I saw in India when there a large tree resembling a peach, full of white blossoms. In a few weeks the fruit appeared, a kidney shaped nut about 1¼ inches long, said to be delicious when roasted, but poisonout when green. Above the nut the stem swelled and turned yellow, full of delicious juice with little pulp. Natives called the nut the Cadja nut. What is it?
2. Are baby flamingoes pink?
3. Is there such a thing as an albino alligator?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers to Previous Questions.

1. Why do they feed live animals to snakes in zoos? I think it is cruel and disgusting.

They don't always feed food alive, as many captive snakes will take contentedly freshly killed food. Some snakes refuse all but living prey, however, and others, even if they accept dead food, do not thrive on it. Specialists in snakes believe there may be some special necessary stimulous to the digestive apparatus when the snake makes the effort to kill its own meal. Furthermore the killing is not so cruel as you think, as it is instantaneous and is believed to be so quick as to be painless.

2. Is there any horned bird?

The head ornament of the Bellbirds of Guiana and Brazil, an excrescence at the base of the bill or lower part of the forehead, is sometimes called a "horn." It is a sort of fleshy wattle, however, and not a horn in the usual sense (These birds get their name from their bell-like note.)

3. What difference is there between a weasel and an ermine?

The ermine or shoat is a weasel, but larger than the common weasel, 7 to 12 inches long, with 4 inches of tail, against the weasel's 8 inches. The stoat changes coat to white in winter, but keeps at all seasons its black tip to the tail. It swims but is not aquatic by habit. Habits similar to the weasel, but its larger size enables it to prey on bigger game than the weasel can tackle.

Y.W.C.A. GIRLS MET THEIR SECRETARY

The new Young Women's Christian Association headquarters at 14 Henry street was the scene of a very happy gathering on Wednesday evening, when a large body of young girls, pledged members of the Y. W. C. A., many of the directors and officers assembled to extend a cordial welcome to Miss Estey, the new general secretary who is now in Kingston to assume her duties. In addition to the reception, Mrs. Reed presented a gavel, formerly belonging to the girls of the Kijkuit Club of St. John's Church of this city.

On every side one heard expressions of congratulation that Kingston had been so fortunate as to secure such a young woman as Miss Estey. She "took" with the girls, immediately, as she had done previously with the directors.

Following introductions, Miss Estey gathered the girls around the piano, Miss Alma Tyler and Mrs. Ida LeFevre being the Y. W. C. A. committee in charge of the reception and assisting Miss Estey to get acquainted. Miss Estey put more spirit and go and jollity into the singing by the girls than they had ever shown, and what with the really excellent musical effect and the fun everybody was soon "As sociable as sociable can be."

After singing "Follow the Gleam," Mrs. Rice, chairman of the Board of Directors, told of her struggles in calling the campaign meetings to order by beating on a glass with a silver knife, a poor substitute for a gavel, and of expressing the hope that some one would some day soon give one to the Y. W. C. A. Mrs. C. N. Reed had promised to do so and was about to fulfill the promise, and Mrs. Rice presented Mrs. Reed.

For the benefit of the newcomers in Kingston, Mrs. Reed described the Kijkuit and told of the Dutch settlers giving it that name as signifying "Lookout" in the sense of a vantage point from which one gains a beautiful and inspiring view. Then she told of the Kijkuit Club of girls of St. John's Episcopal Church, Miss Emily Hoysradt, the first president; of how that club was composed of girls so like the Y. W. C. A. girls; of their good times together and their services to church and community, always being "on the look-out to help out." The club had been disbanded but the gavel remained with Mrs. Reed, who found that the few former members still residing in Kingston felt as she did, that it would be a fine thing to present the gavel which was made from a section of a misshapen maple tree growing on the Kijkuit, to the Young Women's Christian Association. So it was presented, Mrs. Reed reading the "Story of the Gavel," which accompanied the little mallet and is to be read as it passes from presideat to president. After the reading, Mrs. Reed gave the gavel, which bore a small silver plate with the insoription: "Kijkuit Girls to Y. W. C. A., 1923," to Mrs. Rice.

Mrs. Rice accepted the same in behalf of the girls, expressing their and her pleasure in so perpetuating the usefulness of this badge of office and their thanks and promised that the story should be read as requested.

After a little more singing, Miss Estey got right down to business and informally talked with the girls as to just what they wanted to do first. They all wanted to "begin" just as soon as possible in spite of the fact that furnishings and equipment are not yet on hand. It was decided to keep the Y. W. C. A. open Tuesday and Friday evenings, and next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, sharp, the girls are to meet Miss Etsey at headquarters and make definite working plans. Every girl who can be there next Tuesday is asked to come. The evening closed with the serving of delicious home made cake and ice cream and more "sociability."

ANNIVERSARY WEEK AT CHURCH OF THE COMFORTER

At the Church of the Comforter the anniversary festivities began with a social on Tuesday afternoon for the Junior C. E. This society has a membership of very nearly a hundred children. In the evening, the Senior C. E. society held a social. Both of these occasions were greatly enjoyed by all. On Wednesday evening, the Ladies Aid Society and the Men's Club gave a reception to the members of the parish and notwithstanding it was a holiday there were a goodly number present. After a selection by the orchestra and prayer by the Rev. John B. Steketee, the pastor spoke about the church and its remarkable growth during the past few years and the outlook for the future. The Rev. Lucas Boeve, pastor of the First Reformed Church followed with a splendid address, bringing the felicitations of the First church.

The Rev. John B. Steketee, Classical Missionary of the Ulster Classis, brought the congratulations of the Classis of Ulster and spoke words that made an impress upon his hearers. After singing a hymn the ladies served ice cream and cake and the people enjoyed a social time. The orchestra gave a fine program of music during the evening. The pastor and consistory wish to express their appreciation.

On Thursday evening the service was held under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society. The speaker of the evening was Mrs. Putman Cady, who has recently, together with Dr. Cady, returned from a trip to the Holy Land and Egypt. Her theme was "A Glimpse of Missions in Bible Lands." She spoke most entertainingly and charmingly about her trip abroad and some of the missions which she visited. Everyone greatly enjoyed her address. Her willingness to speak on this occasion was greatly appreciated by everyone. On Saturday afternoon, the members of the Cradle Roll and their mothers were entertained at the parsonage. Thus ended the social gatherings of anniversary week. The blessing and inspiration received through these religious and social meetings will go with us for months to come. They have all been af a very high order. And now a word of appreciation in regard to the music. The large chorus choir under the leadership of Mrs. H. G. LeRoy, organist, added very much to the spirit of the services. Thanks are also due to Miss Weaver and Mrs. Dougherty for the beautiful solos they rendered.

MARANO'S BAIL BOND CANCELLED

Charles P. Marano, who at the April term of county court was sentenced to pay a fine of $200 or spend 100 days in the county jail as a result of a plea of guilty to violation of the Mullan-Gage law, and who was given 30 days in which to get the money together, failed to put in an appearance Monday afternoon when court convened and at that time District Attorney Traver asked that a bench warrant be issued for Marano's arrest and the bail bond be forfeited. This motion was granted and Marano is now in jail. Wednesday in court District Attorney Traver asked the court to vacate the order forfeiting the bail bond and to make an order cancelling the bond. This action was taken as Marano had appeared and was in jail and the person upon the bond should not be compelled to make good under the circumstances. This motion was granted by the court and the bail bond cancelled.

PINE HILL.

Pine Hill, June 6.—Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hill have been spending the past week in New York.

The hotels and boarding houses in this section entertained quite a large number of guests on Decoration Day and over the week-end.

On Monday, Ward Griffin, of this village, while at work on an automobile in Ulen's Garage at Allaben, had the misfortune to brake a bone in one of his arms.

We understand that Pine Hill will have a motor cop after the 1st of July.

Mr. and Mrs. James Jacobson, Mrs. A. Jacobson, Mr. and Mrs. Levy and Mr. and Mrs. Star and family of New York, Mrs. Frank Shevelin, Mrs. Jennie Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Dakin of Brooklyn, have been spending the past week in town, guests at the Pine Hill Hotel.

Silas Baldwin, who has been employed in Newark, N. J., during the past six months has returned to Pine Hill.

M. R. Durlach and family of New York spent Decoration Day and the week-end at their summer home in this village.

The monument erected in front of the M. E. Church at this place, about four years ago, in memory of Basil Smith who was killed in France during the war, is to be moved to the Pine Hill Cemetery off the flat where his remains are buried. The new foundation is being built by M. G. Thompson who will also move and set up the monument in its new position.

Our village school closed last Friday.

HIGH FALLS.

High Falls, June 7.—The Rev. Thomas S. Braithwaite of High Falls will conduct services at Lake Mohonk on Sunday evening at 8:15, and not on Friday as was announced in Tuesday's Freeman.

Origin of Welsh Language.

While some Welshmen claim that the Welsh language was that spoken by Adam and Eve, others more modest only insist that it was one of the original languages spoken at the Tower of Babel. Some cynics admit this, and tell the story of its origin thus:

One of the masons at the top of the tower had plenty of mortar but no bricks. The tower had reached such a height that he could not make the man below hear him when he called for more bricks. At last the latter, with wide-open mouth, called up: "What?" Then the mason, exasperated, threw down a trowel of mortar which, lodging in the throat of the man below, resulted in his speaking Welsh for the first time, and accounts for the guttural character of the language.

FORMER KINGSTON BOY WITH WESLEYAN GLEE CLUB

Elmer H. Douglas of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., a former Kingston High School boy, was one the singers in the Ohio Wesleyan University Glee Club, which won the inter-Collegiate Glee Club contest held in Ohio State University in Columbus June 2. This was the [illegible] affair of its kind ever staged in Ohio, but it was so successful that plans are already under way for making it a permanent event. Each of the several clubs of the leading colleges in Ohio sang two numbers of its own choosing and then one song which was given by all. 'Secrets' and 'Wesleyan' were the numbers which won the state championship for Ohio Wesleyan. It will be of interest also to know that President Harding who is a friend of this great institution gave a banquet last November at the White House in which Ohio Wesleyan Glee Club and Varsity debating team were the guests of honor, the president being the host, all expense being borne by the chief executive. Three years ago this same Glee Club was selected by representatives of our government for being the best singers out of 26 colleges all over the country, from which they were to select the chosen ones. They were given a free trip to Panama. They left shortly after school closed, returning the middle of September, all expenses being borne by our U. S. government. Mr. Douglas is preparing also to preach the gospel as well as to sing it.

Beauty.

We all want beauty for the refreshment of our souls. Sometimes we think of it as a luxury, but when God made the world, He made it very beautiful, and meant that we should live amongst its beauties and that they should speak peace to us in our daily lives.—Octavia Hill.

IMPROVED ROADS

IMPROVEMENT OF DIRT ROADS

Time to Find Out in Aiding Construction by Giving Attention to Neglected Highways.

Improvement of the present network of common or dirt roads, aggregating many hundred thousand miles, is urged by M. C. Krarup, a consulting engineer, as the next step in the better roads movement.

"According to authoritative information," says Mr. Krarup in Forbes Magazine, "a national program for completing in all 180,000 miles of fine road within 20 years is practically certain of being carried out. Phenomenal growth of motortruck and omnibus service has thereby at the same time been assured, if the business organization required for the best utilization of these vehicles keeps pace with the yearly increase in road facilities. This much assured, and guaranteeing a favorable development, it must now be time to find out how much more may be done if the possibilities of the neglected dirt roads are also looked into systematically by the business mind and the engineer.

"Common roads, if not all sand, will support and afford traction for any load, if surface and subgrade are both perfectly dry. The wheels need not be wider than for similar loads on highly improved roads. If the road is drained and high enough above the ground water, the required height depending on the drainage conditions of the surrounding country, the subgrade will always remain dry, and the surface, while it will be wet and perhaps soft or slippery after rain, will dry quickly and will not suffer from washouts. Thus, thorough draining is the first need of a common road. If such draining has been effected, all upkeep cost is reduced and all subsequent improvement of the road surface can be made effective and lasting without resurvey and regrading, whenever such improvement is wanted."

ROAD DRAGGING RULES

1. Use a light drag, hauled at an angle to the road so that a small amount of earth may be hauled to the center of the road.
2. Drive at a walk and watch the condition of the road ahead of the drag so that you may correct the faults.
3. Always ride the drag, do not walk.
4. Begin on the outside and return on the opposite unless the road is peaked and needs flattening.
5. Don't sleep on the drag; the result will prove your worth.
6. Fill all the perceptible ruts before they are deepened.
7. Cut the humps to a level section.
8. If the drag cuts too deep, shorten the hitch and vice versa.
9. The amount of earth carried along by the drag and the nicety in cutting and filling are controlled by the driver.
10. To make a drag cut deeper the driver should throw his weight upon the one foot near the cutting or forward corner of the drag.
11. The drag will cut less deeply as the driver's weight is shifted toward the rear and opposite corner of the drag.
12. If the front rail becomes clogged with weeds or if it is desired to deposit the load in a hole, the driver should quickly shift his weight to the farther corner of the drag.
13. The earth dug up by the forward cutting corner of the drag should be gradually worked toward the center of the road and shifted under the forward rail.
14. The rear rail should be set slightly leaning so as to trowel the surface smoothly.
15. The angle of the drag with the road and the length of the hitch are dependent upon local conditions and materials, but are quickly noticed by an intelligent driver.

MILLIONS FOR BETTER ROADS

At Beginning of Next Year There Will Be $63,375,000 Available for Building.

There will be $62,375,000 available for building better roads in the United States at the beginning of next year, according to an announcement of the American Farm Bureau federation. The amounts allotted to the following states are Illinois, $2,797,00; Indiana, $1,692,000; Iowa, $1,813,000; Wisconsin, $1,638,000, and Michigan, $1,942,000.

Of Big Interest to Farmer.

Motor transport is of particular interest to the farmer, since 153,400,000 tons of farm products are transported over the highways to the railways annually and additional thousands of tons are carried on the highways directly to the markets.

Driving Over Dragged Roads.

When the roads are first dragged after a very muddy spell the wagon should drive, if possible, to one side until the roadway has a chance to freeze or partially to dry out.

Changed as He Grew Older.

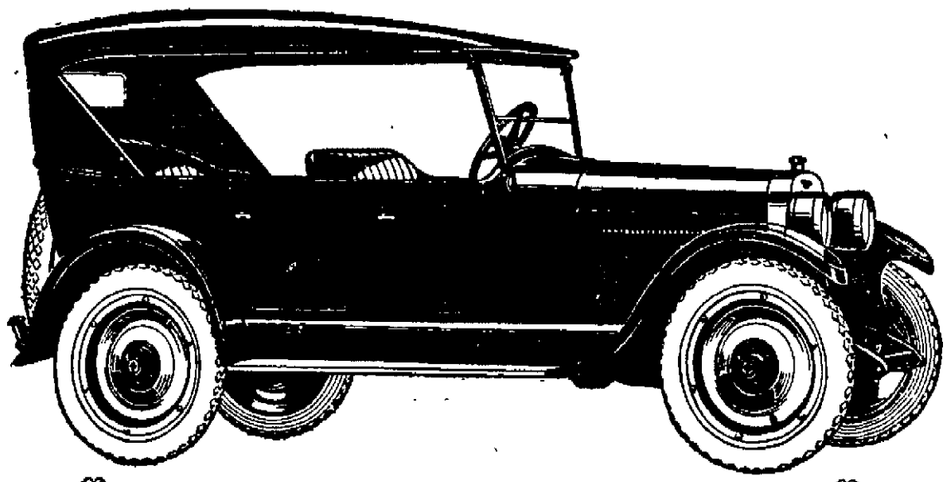
Rickenbacker

A · CAR · WORTHY · OF · ITS · NAME



Sixty Million Miles at a Cost of Less than Two-Tenths of a Cent Per Mile for Replacements

That is the amazing record made by the 10,000 Rickenbacker Sixes now on the road.

Figuring up an average of 6,000 miles per car per year—and our records show that is a low average—and taking the total of replacement and repair parts shipped from our Service Department, many of which are still in distributors' stock rooms—the results show the remarkable fact that Rickenbacker cars have covered more than sixty million miles (60,000,000) at a cost of less than two-tenths of a cent per mile.

That is another—or perhaps the primary—reason for Rickenbacker success. Other reasons for the tremendous popularity of this car are:

—Power Plus.
—Absolute absence of any periods of vibration at any speed.
—Tandem Flywheels.
—Air cleaner, which guarantees longer life and freedom from excessive carbon deposits.
—Ease of control.

and finally, Pride of Ownership, such as you can derive from no car other than that which carries the "Hat in the Ring" insignia on the radiator.

Mrs. Gertrude Freeman, of Sacramento, who plodded across the continent in 1856 by ox-cart, has lived to ride over the same route in an airplane. She is 84 and had ridden in buggies, trains and automobiles, but the trip in the clouds was a novel experience. According to R. L. Clohecy, who piloted the plane in which Mrs. Freeman flew in a few hours over the cities which once were rolling plains, taking days to traverse, she acted "like a regular veteran."

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BIRDS

"I like to sit up high and sing," said the cardinal bird.

"Sit Up High."

"I'm rather fond of a high perch myself when I'm singing," said the tufted titmouse.

"I'm larger than a chickadee," said the tufted titmouse, "and my suit is of a simple gray, while I have a pointed crest upon my head."

"And I am red," said the cardinal bird, "and I am a good-sized bird, almost the size of a robin.

"I believe some one was very much excited when she saw me the other day. It seems this person saw me when I was flying through the underbrush and green thrubs, and she said that the flash of red through the green was so beautiful. And then I perched myself upon a branch and sang and she was so delighted. But you haven't spoken, Carolina Wren. Tell something about yourself."

"I," said the Carolina Wren, "am larger than most wrens, and if you look at my forehead you will see a white line. I wear a rusty brown suit and look a little bit like Mr. Brown Thrasher. I am like the rest of my Wren cousins in the way I sit with my tail held up over my body.

"When I sing my tail is down, but that is the only time, for when I sing I think only my song should be noticed and that it would not be noticed entirely if my tail was up in its usual saucy little fashion.

"They say that my song is so loud and so curious that it is impossible to describe, but now I will tell you some of the words I've been using lately in my songs. Of course if people want to know them, they will have to translate them into their own language."

Now, Billie Brownie was near by just then, so he has translated the Carolina Wren's words into words we know.

I am a Carolina Wren
I flit about like a fussy old hen
But I'm not really fussy. I'm only gay,
And happy every single day.
Once I was a speckled white egg
And couldn't have stod upon either leg.
Nor jerked my jolly, good natured tail
Nor traveled about over hill and dale
But now I'm a grown-up bird, you see,
And not an egg nonentity
Which is a word so very big,
But means so little I'd not dance a jig
In honor of a word so small
No I'd never do that at all, at all.

Billie Brownie wrote down these words in his birchbark note book and then hurried away, for he had an engagement with the Brown Thrasher Bird.

The Brown Thrasher was a big, big bird, with a reddish brown coat and his waistcoat was of white with black spots. He sang for Billie Brownie and oh, his song was so glorious. Of all the songs Billie Brownie had ever heard he thought the song of the Brown Thrasher was the most beautiful. And then the Brown Thrasher whistled a long clear whistle which sounded like this:

"Whee-u-u, whee-u-u."

Billie Brownie told the Brown Thrasher that he had heard that not only did people love his beautiful voice and his original ways, and his own way of singing what he pleased without copying other birds, but that people said he was so useful and did so much good. And that made the pretty Brown Thrasher very happy, for he was such a nice bird, so eager to be liked, so eager to do good.

"He Sang For Billie."

He said he had been away for the winter, unlike the other birds Billie Brownie had been talking to who had not gone away, but who had stayed where it wasn't exactly warm, but where it wasn't very cold.

Before Billie Brownie went back to Fairyland and Brownieland that evening the Brown Thrasher sang for him the most glorious of songs, and then the Brown Thrasher went to bed, but Billie Brownie traveled home slowly, for he could not go quickly when he was thinking so hard of his day.

"Birds," he said to himself, "what joy you do give to the world. You don't know how much you add to the world's beauty and glory."

Meteors and Steel.

A study of the great collection of meteorites in a European museum has led to the interesting conclusion that meteoritic iron, as it falls from the sky, and the various steels produced in our modern steel works are the results of essentially similar chemical and physical causes. One of the most striking characteristics noted in meteoritic iron is the presence of a considerable quantity of nickel.

Youth and Age.

Generally youth is like the first cogitations, not so wise as the second; for there is a youth in thoughts as well as in ages; and yet the invention of young men is more lively than that of old, and imaginations stream into their minds better, and, as it were, more divinely.—Bacon.

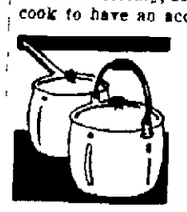
"WAYS AND MEANS"

It is necessary, for efficiency, for the cook to have an accurate sense of the amount of food to prepare for her table, without being niggardly. Appetites vary and this faculty is a most important one to cultivate. If properly planned any meal may be stretched to include a chance guest, without any one being defrauded.



There is a fallacy called economy, which consists of "using everything up"; of course that is most desirable and to be commended, but when the leftover to be used of ingredients worth three cents must be combined with foods costing five or six times that it is not economy, unless the combination is especially well-liked.

A few slices of bread to save when used with milk, for pudding, with raisins, eggs and spices if the family likes it, is worth while; if not, put those waste slices into the sour milk over night to make into the griddle cakes for breakfast. Or spread the slices with butter and sprinkle generously with chopped rhubarb which you are supposed to have in your garden, sprinkle generously with sugar and bake until the rhubarb is soft and the juices absorbed by the bread. Such a dessert is wholesome, well liked and economical.

The ordinary ready-to-eat breakfast foods are not economical, especially in a good sized family. For such let them buy a few pounds of wheat at the mill or from some farmer—if you are not one—soak it over night—a cupful or two—and cook on the back of the range during the day when a fire is in use. Serve with top milk; this is a hearty meal in itself and will make bone and muscle for the growing boys and girls.

Perishable foods should be served in small quantities, so that there will be no leftovers. It is impossible to avoid leftovers and they must be accepted as a necessary evil, served as appetizingly as possible; but avoid having them.

THE JUMEL MANSION

The Robert Morris house, more recently called the Jumel Mansion, located near One Hundred and Sixtieth street and Amsterdam avenue, in the city of New York, is one of the most famous of all the historic buildings in that greatest of all American cities. Well preserved, it is a splendid specimen of Georgian architecture.

As history goes Colonel Robert Morris of the Forty-seventh British regiment and a comrade in arms of General George Washington, purchased the property and erected this mansion which he subsequently presented to his bride, in 1763.

General Washington occupied the place in 1776, while 8,000 volunteer soldiers camped in the neighborhood. During a battle which resulted in the capture of Fort Washington this house was the center of operations. In 1777 it served as the headquarters of the British army. In 1778 it was occupied by General Baron Von Kuypausen and his German following as Hessian headquarters.

Following the close of the Revolutionary war, this building was familiarly known as Calumet Inn. Stage coaches operating between New York city and Albany changed horses at this point. President Washington and his cabinet dined here in 1790.

In 1810 Stephen Jumel, a French wine merchant of fame and fortune, purchased this mansion, restored it to its condition in the time of Washington. Jumel died in 1832. The following year Mme. Jumel married the illustrious Aaron Burr who, in 1801, was elected vice president of the United States, and who shot and killed the celebrated Alexander Hamilton in a duel which was the outgrowth of a political feud at Weehawken, New Jersey, in 1804. Subsequently, Attorney Chase, who studied law in Burr's office and who married a niece of Mme. Jumel, occupied this house for 50 years.

In 1903 the property was purchased by the city and in 1907 the Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution acquired the use of the house for a museum of historical relics and furnishings of the Revolutionary period.

In the council chamber, a large octagonal room at the rear of the broad hall, General Washington, it is said, received visits from the sachems of the five Iroquois tribes who came to offer their allegiance to the cause of liberty.

SUPREME COURT: COUNTY OF ULSTER.—HARRY BERGER, otherwise known as Samuel H. Berger, and Benjamin Cherney, Plaintiffs, against MORRIS TRIEBWASSER and REBECCA TRIEBWASSER, his wife; SAMUEL W. KAPLAN, MENDEL DUBROVINSKY, and CHANA DUBROVINSKY, his wife; HELEN POTER, BENNIE WOLERICK, ISRAEL LEVINE, ELAINE HANDMAN, ELLENVILLE ELECTRIC COMPANY and THE HOME NATIONAL BANK OF ELLENVILLE, Defendants.

Defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale made and entered in the above entitled action, bearing date the 9th day of May, 1923, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named will sell at public auction at the front door of the County Court House in the City of Kingston in the County of Ulster in the State of New York, on the 23rd day of June, 1923, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, daylight saving time, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold and therein described as follows:

ALL THAT CERTAIN PIECE OF LAND, situate in the Town of Wawarsing, Ulster County, lying and being on the east side of the Sawkill, commencing on the east line of said Sawkill at a pile of stones on a flat rock, from thence south 59 degrees east forty chains to chestnut tree marked; thence north 31 degrees east thirty-three chains to the One Mile Travers line and the lands formerly of Edmund Bruyn, deceased; thence along said line to the Sawkill; thence down the Sawkill to the place of beginning, estimated at one hundred acres of land, be the same more or less.

Being the same premises conveyed to the late Thomas Sheils by Joseph Richard and Mary A. Richard, his wife, by deed dated December 30, 1899, and recorded in the office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster on April 4, 1900, in Liber 357 of Deeds at page 360.

ALSO, ALL THAT CERTAIN LOT, PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND, situate, lying and being at Lackawack in the Town of Wawarsing, Ulster County, New York, and being the same farm and premises purchased by John I. Hill from James Benedict about sixty years ago and is bounded and described as follows: BEGINNING at a point in the center of the Lackawack or Rondout Creek at the southwesterly corner of Peter D. Osterhoudt's lands and runs thence northerly along the westerly line of said Osterhoudt's lands to the line of lands now or formerly of Edmond Bruyn to the lands of Joseph Richards; thence southerly along the easterly line of the lands purchased by the said John I. Hill from Jacob Furman to the center of the Lackawack or Rondout Creek; thence down and through the center of said creek as it winds and runs to the place of beginning. Containing three hundred acres of land, be the same more or less.

EXCEPTING AND RESERVING out of the above described premises two lots of about one acre each now owned by James Cutler and William Fuller, being the same premises conveyed to the late Thomas Sheils by Sanford Van Demark and Clara Van Demark, by deed dated October 31, 1890.

AND ALSO, ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND, situate in the Town of Wawarsing, Ulster County, New York, at a place called Lackawack, bounded as follows:

BEGINNING at a white oak tree marked standing on the east bank of the Rondout or Lackawack Creek at the mouth of the Sawkill and from thence down the east bank of the Lackawack or Rondout Creek eleven chains and eighty-five links to a heap of stones and running from thence north thirty-eight degrees east to the lands of Joseph Richards; thence along the lands of Joseph Richards a straight line to the Sawkill and from thence running down the said Sawkill including all the turnings and windings thereof to the place of beginning.

CONTAINING one hundred and fifty-four acres and six-tenths of an acre. Subject to a contract entered into between the parties of the first part and Jacob M. Hoornbeek, of the Village of Ellenville, County of Ulster and State of New York, and dated November 22, 1919, and all the conditions, agreements or covenants therein.

ALSO, ALL THE RIGHT, TITLE AND INTEREST of the estate of Thomas Sheils in and to a certain parcel of land conveyed to Thomas Sheils by Andrew Hornsberger and wife, by deed of conveyance bearing date April 1, 1904, and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's office in Liber 381 of Deeds, page 207.

ALSO, ALL THAT PARCEL OF LAND conveyed to Thomas Sheils by Mary A. Fuller by deed of conveyance bearing date October 16, 1903, and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's office in Liber 379 of Deeds, page 113, reference to each of which is hereby made for a more full and complete description thereof. If Thomas Sheils died seized and possessed testate of said last two mentioned parcels.

The premises above described are the same premises conveyed by William J. Sheils and John L. Sheils, as Executors of the Last Will and Testament of Thomas Sheils, deceased, to Samuel H. Berger and Benjamin Cherney by deed dated December 10, 1920, and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's office December 22, 1920.

Dated, May 9th, 1923.

MISS SCHWED AT HIGH SCHOOL AGAIN

Defending Constitution, She Says Socialism Has Failed in Practice Since Plato—Converts Are Made by Glittering Promises That are Never Fulfilled.

Miss Schwed, who some time ago delivered a lecture here on "The Conversion of a Parlor Socialist," was at the high school Wednesday morning, speaking on the Constitution of the United States. She stated it startling that she would like to omit all reference to Socialism, but she could not omit the Socialists when she was speaking about the enemies of the Constitution. She told of how the Socialists whom she had met in other days had made fun of her, calling her a reactionary, a conservative, and casting other similar bits of sarcasm. She told the students not to allow anyone to make fun of them as long as they were standing for the principles in which they believed. She believed in the Constitution, and their jeers did not bother her in the least.

Socialism has failed in America. There were two such colonies located here in the country's early days, one of which was in Virginia, and the other in New England. Both failed utterly. They were founded right, too, on the soundest plans of Socialism. The rich men gave up their property to the common interests, while the poor men shared in the profits of the wealthy. Then, when the colony got under way, the workers started in working and the slackers slacking. Then trouble arose. This, however, was not the first attempts at Socialism. Way back in the time of Plato, it was thought of, but the experiments in this line proved unsatisfactory.

Socialism is a beautiful plan, but it does not work out well when put into practice. The wonderful descriptions of Socialistic governments found in books are the work of men, skilful with the pen, whose business it is to show the wonderful side of Socialism for the winning of followers.

The Socialists attack the Constitution as being formed by old men. As a matter of truth, all those who had a part in it were under fifty years of age, according to the speaker, and several of them were still in their twenties. Nor is it out of date. The men who formed this constitution were the wisest of those in the colonies. They were men who could see ahead. They met in those days the same problems we are meeting today in Socialistic tendencies, and they took them into consideration. Even Jefferson, one of the most radical men at the time, gave them credit for being "the gods." Their work is a broad governing constitution, covering the main needs, which can be amended at any time to suit the immediate needs as the conditions change. It has already been amended nineteen times and can still be changed if necessary. However, amendment is wise only when absolutely necessary, and deserves exceedingly careful consideration before being passed as part of the Constitution.

With these enemies forever attempting to overthrow the existing government, it needs help at the hands of loyal citizens. The American youth should have an active part in this fight for the existing government. The student faces Socialism in his schooling. He meets it at college and it appeals to him. Sometimes he becomes a follower of Socialism because he was influenced into it by the beautiful vision. Those who believe that Socialism is better than the government of the American constitution believe so because they do not study the situation enough. The radical studies the constitution to the backbone. He knows it through and through, its strong points which he must avoid, its weak points that he can attack. If those who follow the constitution would only study it as well they would realize what it really is and would stop leaning toward a mistaken ideal, something that promises much in beautiful things, but which has no practical government for the people after the present one is destroyed, nothing but what it gave Russia—murder, oppression, dissatisfaction and hunger. The worker as well as the capitalist is living happily under the present form of government. The constitution has been a good friend of ours for nearly a century and a half. Socialism has utterly failed in every attempt. For this reason the youth of America should stand firmly in back of the constitution and the existing government, and firmly resolve not to allow any person to tell them that the constitution is too ancient for our modern civilization, not to believe in or lend to the destruction of the present government or the institution of a Socialistic form, and furthermore to study the constitution in order to be able to defend it in time of want.

In conclusion Miss Schwed told of an old farmer she met in South Dakota. He was much amused at her desire to fight the Socialists, saying that a single frail woman could not expect to do much alone. She asked if he had ever heard about back-fires putting out the big fire. He replied in the affirmative. Miss Schwed invited all to help her build back-fires.

PICKING A HEROINE

By H. IRVING KING

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

PATRICIA was rich, handsome and learned. She had a dazzling complexion and a scattering of Greek.

Patricia's money was her own—inherited under the will of a rich old uncle. Just now her interest was centered in a mission where human derelicts were put into drydock for physical and spiritual repair before being launched again on the sea of life. One night, during a function at the mission house, Patricia noticed a stalwart young man whose appearance suggested ships and seas, and who sang with a fine tenor voice. She pointed him out to the superintendent, who had been on the lookout for material out of which to fashion a sort of secretary and handy man, and after the exercises derelict Mark Straight was towed before the official mentioned for examination as to his seaworthiness. With a few minor repairs it was decided that Mark might be rendered serviceable and he was established at a desk in the executive office of the salvage establishment.

Patricia, as chief patroness of the establishment, was frequently brought into contact with the young man. The young man accepted all Patricia's sarcasms and snubbings without complaint.

At last, one day when he and Patricia happened to be alone in the office, she suddenly said to him, "Well, Mr. Warren, hasn't the masquerade about been played out?"

"Oh, I don't know," replied the young man calmly; "I haven't accomplished all I came down here to do yet. So you have known me all along?"

"I have," answered Patricia. "A shaved off mustache and sailor clothes do not constitute an exactly impenetrable disguise. And what is more, you knew that I recognized you from the first."

"Well, yes, to be frank with you," was the reply, "I did. You see, I came down here with an object."

"I am quite aware of that, Mr. Clifford Warren," snapped Patricia, "but your object will not be attained. Have you forgotten our last interview?"

"Not a bit of it," replied Warren. "We were on that yachting trip of Van Duser's, and were alone in a corner of the moon-lit deck, and I was making desperate love to you, and you began to quote Greek."

"And you said—"

"And I said, 'Oh, chuck the Greek, Pat, and come down to earth—and me,' and you called me an ignorant brute with nothing but my money to recommend me and flounced away. And the next I heard of you you had gone into the uplift business."

"And so you followed me down here."

"I beg pardon—ran across you down here."

"It's the same thing."

"Not at all; I came down here to gather material and 'atmosphere' for a novel."

"You! write a novel?"

"Yes, why not? I am of quite a literary turn—even if my Greek is shaky."

Now, after all, Patricia was human—and a woman. She had thought a great deal of Clifford Warren. It was disgust with herself at her foolish break with him that had really driven her into the salvage work and she was secretly delighted when she found that he had followed her to the repair shop. And now to be told that it was not herself but "atmosphere" for a book that he was after!

"Of course," said Warren in a placatory manner, "you will be the heroine of the story."

"If you put me into your old book I'll—I'll—" cried Patricia, too angry to complete her sentence.

"Oh, well, of course," said Clifford, "if you object—"

"I do," interrupted Patricia sharply, "and furthermore I have severed my connection with this establishment and am going abroad at once."

"When do you sail, Patricia?"

She hesitated, blushed and then said, shortly, "on the Cassenovia, on the 16th," turned and went out of the room. Clifford Warren also sailed on the Cassenovia on the 16th. Now it is absolutely impossible for two persons who have known each other intimately to play at being strangers on board ship—it can't be done. The Cassenovia was about mid-ocean when one day, as Clifford and Patricia paced the heaving deck together, she said to him, "Were you really going to write a book, Clifford?"

"I was," replied the young man, "but I have given up the idea."

"Very sensible of you," retorted Patricia, "and shows a juster appreciation of your own limitations than I had given you credit for. May I ask what brought you to such a reasonable state of mind?"

"Well, you see," drawled Clifford, "you would not let me make you the heroine of the book; so instead of writing a love story I decided to live one."

"And who," she asked, with just a suggestion of a tremor in her voice, "is to be the heroine of this unwritten romance?"

"Why, the same person I had picked out for heroine of the written one," said Clifford with calm assurance.

Over 55 million packages of this new kind of soap were used last year

For every washday method soaking—boiling—in washing machines

Already used literally by millions of women. And yet it was only three years ago that it was first brought out.

You wonder what is the secret of this remarkable growth. For just consider what a tremendous force of habit Rinso had to meet. It had to gain the confidence of women trained for generations to the long-drawn-out methods of a bar soap washday.

Mothers, grandmothers and great-grandmothers had rubbed and scrubbed to get clothes clean—rubbing soap on all the soiled places and then rubbing the heavy wet clothes on the washboard.

Is it any wonder then that when Rinso came into women's lives it swept everything before it? For Rinso spares you the hardest part of that age-old drudgery of washday—the constant backbreaking rubbing. That is why millions of packages of it are used every month.

Soaking takes the place of rubbing

Just soaking with this new kind of soap gently loosens all the dirt. Harmful rubbing is done away with.

You are not only saved from weary, backachy work but also your clothes are protected from the wear and tear of hard rubbing. Rinso dissolves instantly and sends its soapy suds through every thread and fibre, flushing out all the dirt. Only spots where someone has actually ground in the dirt—neck bands, cuff edges and the like—will need a light rubbing with a little dry Rinso.

Has already taken place of bar soap

You will find that Rinso is ideal for any washday method you use. You do not have to change any of your usual steps—just use Rinso where you used to use bar soap.

If you like to boil your white cottons Rinso will give just the safe cleansing suds you need in the boiler. If you use a washing machine follow the advice of the big washing machine men—use Rinso.

Rinso takes the place of bar soap for all these different washday methods. It does the whole job.

As wonderful for the family wash as Lux is for fine things

Rinso is made by the makers of Lux to be just as remarkable for the regular weekly wash as Lux is for silks, woolens and all fine fabrics. With these two soaps—Lux and Rinso—the worst of your laundry problems are solved—you need never again do any hard rubbing.

However you do your wash, make it easy by using Rinso. Get it at any grocery or department store. It comes in two sizes—the regular size and the big new package. Made by the largest soapmakers in the world. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Follow the advice of leading washing machine manufacturers

—use this new kind of soap in your machine

Apex, Bluebird, Coffield, Gainaday, Getz, Haag, Horton, Laun-Dry-Ette, Meadows, "1900" Cataract, One Minute, Rotarex, Sunnysuds, Surf, Trojan, Voss, recommend Rinso for best results.

COFFIELD WRITES:

"Tried out over a period equivalent to seven years' weekly use, Rinso did not corrode or injure the machine in any way. It can be used with absolute safety. Garments were not weakened by prolonged washings with Rinso."

GAINADAY SAYS:

"Rinso suds stand up permanently. They penetrate the water so that every garment is saturated with Rinso solution."

LAUN-DRY-ETTE WRITES:

"We found no little soapy particles floating around in the water in our tests with Rinso as we did with some of the other soaps. Twelve minutes was the average operating period with Rinso and not a single article had to be hand rubbed."

"1900" CATARACT SAYS:

"In solution it permeates the water so evenly that its cleansing action reaches every garment. Consequently we found that we were not obliged to do any rubbing either before or after operating the machine."

ROTAREX SAYS:

"We have tried out Rinso and other soaps—many of them good—in our machine, but for all 'round satisfaction we recommend Rinso."

You don't need to bother with bar-soap any more

SCOUT CAMP OPENS JULY 2

In Tiahlwa Park at Chichester—Any Boy Over 12 Can Join Troop and Go—Promises to be a Model Camp.

The Boy Scout summer training camp on the beautiful 6,500 acre tract of land at Tiahlwa Park, Chichester, owned by William O. Schwarzwaelder and loaned by him to the Ulster County Scout organization, will open on July 2 and close July 31. It will be for registered Scouts who are under the supervision of the Ulster County Council, but any boy over 12 years of age may go by joining a Scout troop and passing the Tenderfoot examination.

The camp and its proposed activities are described in detail in the "Colonial Scout," an artistic booklet gotten out by G. Henry Nessiage, the Scout executive, which is prefaced by an invitation from Judge Joseph M. Fowler of the Ulster County Children's Court, to parents to send their boys. The physical, mental and moral benefits are stressed and the arrangements for Scouts to attend religious services of their own faiths.

The best plain, wholesome, thoroughly cooked foods, supplied by a professional male cook, will be supplied and other camp duties will be assigned to squads of Scouts.

The camp will be divided into three periods of ten days each and the charge will be $9 per boy per period. The Scout Council furnishes the tents, bedsacks and pays all overhead expenses. Sixty-four is the number desired in camp at one time.

The daily program of the camp will be subject to wide variations but in the main the following is a good example:

7:00 Reveille.
7:10 Sitting-up exercises, morning dip.
7:30 Breakfast.
8:30 Squad duties.
9:00 Scoutcraft instructions and examinations.
10:30 Morning swim.
11:45 Inspection of camp.
12:15 Dinner.
1:00 Rest period until 2 (letters home).
2:00 Afternoon fun, games, hikes, etc.
4:00 Afternoon swim.
5:00 Flag ceremonies.
6:00 Supper.
7:00 Campus games.
8:30 camp fire or night games.
9:30 Call to quarters.
10:00 Taps (all to bed).

SOME ESSENTIALS OF SUCCESSFUL PITCHER

Must Have Strength, Endurance and a Good Arm.

(By CARL LUNDGREN, Baseball Coach, University of Illinois.)

The pitcher should have more physical ability than the average ball player. That is, he must have strength, endurance and a good arm. His work requires from an hour and a half to two hours of hard going, while if he lets down for a second the opposing batters will soon find him an easy victim. Probably the most essential requirement of a pitcher is control, then comes speed, curve, change of pace.

By control we mean the ability to pitch the ball at the spot that is desired at the time desired. After deciding where the ball should be pitched, it does not necessarily mean the ability of the pitcher to get the ball over the plate, but rather the ability to pitch to a batter's weakness or away from the place where the batter hits the ball hard.

The pitcher may not have a good curve ball or a good fast ball, but there are very few who cannot get control by hard work and practice. In warming up never throw the ball in a haphazard fashion, but each time with a definite idea of where you want the ball to go.

The position of the pitcher in the box is very important. He should stand comfortably, with his body relaxed, and take plenty of time in sizing up the situation.

There are many different forms of winding up in starting the delivery. Whatever the style there should be no useless swinging of the arms that will serve to tire the pitcher out. In beginning the delivery start the body and arm forward together, bringing the arm with the ball as far as the shoulder, after which it is brought forward with a hard snap and push. The elbow should be bent only very slightly when coming over the shoulder.

The body should follow well through as the ball is being pitched, and the fielding position adopted at once. This enables the pitcher to start quickly for a hit ball which may come into his territory.

One very common mistake that pitchers make is that they use their arm and not their body with the arm, in pitching. Absolute co-ordination between the body and arm is necessary if the greatest amount of effectiveness is to be reached.

In pitching a fast ball, grip the ball with the first two fingers across the narrow part of the seam. This will give you a firm grip. Be careful not to crowd the ball too far down into the palm of the hand, but rather well out toward the end of the fingers. Then allow the ball to come off the end of the fingers with a hard snap of the wrist and fingers at the end of the arm motion.

The curve ball is thrown with exactly the same arm motion as the fast ball, the only difference being in the wrist and finish of the arm motion at the end. The ball may be held with the first two fingers, the long finger being along the seam of the ball or both fingers across the seam of the ball. The first part of the arm motion is started the same as for the fast ball, but the finish differs in that a hard drive down across the breast is made with his arm, giving the wrist a quick snap that causes the ball to revolve. The axis of rotation of the ball should be perpendicular with the direction you want the ball to curve. Do not allow the ball to leave your hand too high over your shoulder, but rather drive down hard across the breast. To curve well, a curve ball should break from the waist down.

POMONA GRANGE CONFERS DEGREE

The regular meeting of Ulster County Pomona Grange was held on Friday, June 1, in the Grange Hall at Ulster Park.

The morning session was devoted to opening, reading of the minutes of former meeting, reports of subordinate Granges and standing committees.

All but one Grange reported good attendance and interesting meetings. Two had given sixty dollars to Near East relief for the care of a child for a year.

The chairman of the legislative committee reported that he had attended the hearing in Albany on the rural school bill, which he favored in accordance with the vote taken at the last meeting. The committee on the cedar rust bill reported that it had passed both houses.

A very nice dinner was served by the ladies of the Reformed Church, for which the Grangers were duly thankful.

The afternoon session was opened by a very able address by the Rev. Scott J. King, of Washingtonville, Orange county, on the work of the Grange and its accomplishments.

The fifth degree was conferred in full form on a large class of candidates.

It was voted that a telegram be sent to Governor Smith asking him to veto the repeal of the Mullan-Gage law.

Miss Fisher told of the work that had been done by the Ulster County Home Bureau throughout the county.

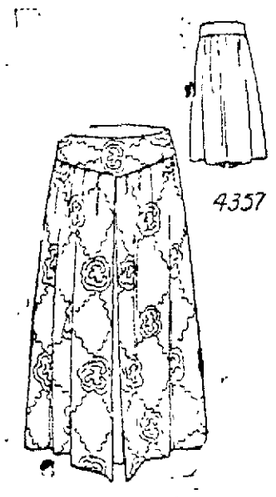
It was voted that the Pomona Grange give fifty dollars to the Home Bureau.

Adjourned, after accepting an invitation to hold the next regular meeting at Asbury Grange Hall.

GOLDEN RULE INN'S FORMAL OPENING ON SATURDAY

The formal opening of the Golden Rule Inn will take place Saturday, June 9. This summer resort which was popular with Kingstonians last season, is located on the shore of Mirror Lake near Ulster Park, about four miles from this city and has one of the largest and finest dancing pavilions in this section, separate from the Inn itself, which accommodates about 200 guests and advertises "the best of home cooking." Cottages and bungalows are being erected, six of which are ready to be occupied and it is planned to still further improve the bathing facilities and equip the auditorium with a modern radio set, as well as to give regular exhibits of motion pictures. Altogether a large sum of money has been spent in improving the place.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.



A Pretty Skirt.

4375. Here is a very pleasing model, that is suitable for wash materials, as well as for the new figured silks and crepes. Full side portions open over a narrow panel of contrasting material. The skirt is joined to a shaped yoke.

The pattern is cut in 7 sizes: 25, 27, 29, 31, 33, 35 and 37 inches waist measure. A 27 inch size requires 3⅝ yards of 36 inch material. To make panel of contrasting material will require ⅜ yard of 40 inch material cut crosswise, or 1⅛ yard 12 inches wide or wider. The width of the skirt at the foot is 3 yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipts of 12 cents in coin or stamps by The Freeman Pattern Department, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

Send 15c in coin or stamps for our up-to-date spring and summer catalogue, containing 550 designs of Ladies' and Misses' and Children's Patterns, a concise and comprehensome points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various, simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

NEW PERFECTION
Oil Cook Stoves and Ovens

FOUR million housewives in the city and country have declared their independence of the coal and wood range by equipping their kitchens with the modern New Perfection Cook Stove, an up-to-date twentieth-century product.

A New Perfection Stove emancipates the housewife from the drudgery and excessive heat in the kitchen incidental to the coal stove. No more fires for her to build.

A lighted match to the wick gives instant and adequate heat for all cooking purposes, producing a clean, intense flame, free from odor.

The New Perfection is built for enduring service, it is unusually attractive and simple to operate.

It has more users today throughout the civilized world than any other cooking stove.

There is a New Perfection dealer in your locality who will gladly demonstrate this modern oil stove for you.

Sportsmen and Farmers Join In Shooting 'Vermin' to Save Game

HERE ARE THE GAME-KILLERS!

The birds and animals shown above are among the most voracious that prey on game and young poultry. They hunt in season and out whenever and, with others of their kind, annually kill ten times as much game as all the sportsmen in the country combined.

A COUNTRY-WIDE campaign is now on to preserve the game of the country by keeping down the number of predatory animals and birds which prey on useful species. The Cooper's hawk, sharp-shinned hawk, goshawk and great horned owl, feed almost exclusively on quail, partridge and other game and useful birds. The crow annually destroys millions of the eggs and young of birds during the nesting season. It has been stated that each crow steals seven eggs or young of birds during that time.

A red squirrel, it has been estimated, each year eats some 300 of the eggs of useful feathered creatures. The ordinary house cat, when vagrant, is a voracious hunter of useful birds of all species. In fact, naturalists say that the game killing animals and birds account for ten times as much game as all the hunters of the country combined.

The American Game Protective and Propagation Association has issued a call to all game commissioners throughout the country to join in a campaign to shoot the predatory game killers, which are known to sportsmen as "vermin." There has been a general response. Campaigns have already been started or are about to be started in the states of Alabama, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Georgia, Iowa, Kansas, Maryland, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia, Washington.

Gun clubs, farmers, individual sportsmen and all lovers of game are being urged at this time to go afield and shoot the marauders whose depredations now are at their worst because the young birds are at their most helpless age. In some states anti-crow and anti-hawk campaigns have been instituted by the authorities. In others, gun clubs are holding anti-vermin contests among their members. In certain states bigger bounties have been declared against certain species of "vermin." The American Game Protective and Propagation Association, backed by the farmers and sportsmen of the country, expects that the results of the shooting of predatory birds and animals at this time, will be reflected in the fall shooting. If the campaign is successful, more protection than ever will be given game birds of all kinds.

Earl and Countess of Lanesborough, arr...

The Earl of Lanesborough, England, and his bride, the Countess of Lanesborough, have arrived in San Francisco from Honolulu in their "Love Iliad" tour of the world. On their honeymoon trip they succeeded in evading all camera men from London to San Francisco, but here they lost out. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks (Mary Pickford), friends of the titled tourists, have arranged to entertain them at their California home.

She Got Hers.

When I was ten years old I had a beau of twelve. I liked him very much. One day he wrote me a note and in return I wrote him a long letter telling him how much I loved him. Next day my mother called me and showed me the note I had written him. He gave it to my brother and told him to give it to mother. What she gave me brought my love to a sudden ending.—Chicago Journal.

HIT BY TRUCK; LEFT IN ROAD

Howard Johnson, colored, who hails from the south but who has resided on Ann street, this city, for some time, was hit by an automobile truck Wednesday afternoon about 2 o'clock as he was walking along the Plank road in the town of Ulster on his way to this city. Johnson was about a hundred feet north of the intersection of the Sawkill road when he was overtaken by a truck and knocked down. His injuries are not thought to be serious.

How long he lay along the road is not known. A travelling man by the name of Miller reported to the sheriff that a man had been hit and Jailor Robert Every and Deputy Sheriff Bongartz investigated. They found Johnson lying on a pile of gravel spitting blood and evidently in a serious condition. When asked what hit him he was able to reply that it was a truck and said that he had written down the number on a card in his pocket. The number was N. Y. commercial 1-099-733. He was rushed to the Kingston City Hospital where Dr. Connelly made an examination and found that his condition was not serious and unless injured internally he would be about shortly.

Under Sheriff Haulenbeek made inquiry of the Motor Bureau at Albany and learned that the truck which bears the number given by Johnson is owned by Harry Hyains of 267 Chester street, Brooklyn, and is a two ton Reo truck.

An investigation is being made by the authorities.

Commissioner Enright.

Police Commissioner Richard E. Enright, of New York, qualified for one of his own bravery medals in his pursuit and capture of James Lambatta, gunman, who took refuge in a dark hallway and later on the roof of a tenement house, firing continuously. Enright was in his automobile, driven by the chauffeur. Detective Charles Eisle, when he heard a fusillade of shots and found one of his detectives in a pistol duel with Lambatta, wanted by the police. Without hesitation, Enright followed the fugitive into a hallway, bullets splintering the wall all about him, and finally cornered him. Lambatta was found to be seriously wounded. Enright, it developed, was not armed.

"Every Week-End Is a Vacation With This Buick"

Closed car comfort is combined perfectly with cross country touring convenience in this Buick six cylinder touring sedan.

In interior arrangement and appointment it is unusually attractive. Broad adjustable windows provide "open car vision" and airiness. And the smart trunk on the rear affords the luggage facilities so essential to touring.

Ask for a demonstration of this car. You will find in it many new qualities.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, June 7.—Steadiness marked trading at the opening of the stock market today. Advances were fractional, excepting in St. Paul preferred, Atlantic Coast Line and Sears Roebuck, which rose one point to 38, 116¼ and 78 respectively. U. S. Steel rose ⅛ to 97⅝, Crucible Steel ½ to 73½, and Baldwin Locomotive ¼ to 133⅝. Copper stocks were firm, Anaconda up ⅛ to 45⅝ and Utah Copper ½ to 65. Oil stocks were irregular, Standard Oil of California rose ⅝ to 53¾, Pan-American Petroleum ¼ to 75½ and Houston Oil ⅛ to 64¼. Railroad stocks were firm.

Trading was dull during the forenoon today, with the general list steady. Buoyancy developed from short time in the equipments to checks. Steel, motor, tire and oil stocks were steady.

An exception to the general dullness in the afternoon was Stewart Warner, which advanced 1½ points to 94⅝. International Harvester sold down about 3 points to 75⅝, a new low for the year.

Plutarch, June 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mackey with neighbors and friends gave Miss Charlotte Kolb, our district school teacher, a surprise at their home on Tuesday evening. The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mackey, Miss Charlotte Kolb, Mr. and Mrs. Canty, Edward Canty and William Canty, Mr. and Mrs. John Markle, Arthur Markle, Luella Markle and Frederick Markle, Charles Stenius, Fred Will, Mrs. Albertson, William Albertson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry McCormick, Georgianna Elliott, Venius Elliott and Horace Elliott, Chester De Graff and Lizzie DeGraff, Mrs. Edward Schoonmaker, Nettie Van Nostrand, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adams, Parker Bendickson, Mr. and Mrs. Norman and Mrs. Beslwick, Mrs. Finkenstadt, Emily Finkenstadt, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Wennerholm, Mr. and Mrs. A. Richter, Mr. and Mrs. Enlund, Mr. and Mrs. William Yesse and Junior Yesse, Ward Washburn, Annie Rounke, John Kolb, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kolb, Bessie Kolb, Marjorie Kolb and Edwin Kolb. All met at the home of Mrs. Stenius and then marched to the Mackey home, singing "We're Here Because We're Here." Mr. Stenius carried a banner of welcome and made a few remarks, followed by others, telling of the untiring work of Miss Kolb during her three years among us. It is with regret that it is learned that she has accepted a position at East Kingston for the coming school year. All wish her success in her new work. The evening passed pleasantly with conversation, music and dancing. Ice cream, cake, sandwiches and lemonade were served during the evening. About 11 o'clock all departed for their homes, voting Mr. and Mrs. Mackey and Miss Kolb royal entertainers.

Rea-Eustace

Thomas Rea of Saugerties and Helen Eustace of New York City were married in St. Augustine's Church, the Bronx, on Wednesday morning. Mr. Rea is the owner of the Kleeber barber shop on Partition street, Saugerties and on his return from his wedding trip, will with his bride occupy apartments in the Kleeber building.

Hughes-Sheeley.

On Wednesday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock at St. Joseph's Church a very pretty wedding was solemnized by the pastor, the Rev Joseph B. Cushman, when Miss Mollie Sheeley of 409 Washington avenue became the bride of Joseph D. Hughes of New York city, formerly of this city. The bride was very charmingly gowned in white canton crepe and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Marge Sheeley, sister of the bride was very prettily attired in robin egg blue with georgette over pink, and carried pink roses. The groom was attended by his brother-in-law, Donald D Miller of New York city. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The young couple left on the 7:40 o'clock West Shore train for New York city, where a newly furnished home awaits them.

SUBSTANTIAL KINGSTON BUSINESS 63 YEARS OLD

Its Founder Still In Charge at Mayer Factory.

Today marks the sixty-third anniversary of the John M. Mayer wagon manufactory at 35 Mill street. For many years Mr. Mayor, who has been in active charge of the business ever since its establishment, has been known as a maker of fine and substantial wagons and with the decline of the horse and the rise of the automobile he has added an auto body building department which has achieved an equal reputation for honest workmanship. The firm also makes a lawn swing which is sold all over the country.

Increase Food Value of Potatoes by Spray

Has Effect of Controlling Diseases and Helps Yield.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Spraying potatoes with such copper sprays as bordeaux, pickering sprays, and barium water sprays not only has the effect of controlling the diseases for which they are applied, but, according to the United States Department of Agriculture, thorough and timely spraying usually greatly increases the yield, influences the composition of the tubers, and increases their keeping qualities.

For many years observers have reported also a stimulating effect of bordeaux mixture on potato foliage and a gain in yield even when no diseases were present. The why and how of this effect of copper have been much discussed by scientists and many experiments made. An interesting contribution to this subject has lately been made by F. C. Cook of the bureau of chemistry in department bulletin 1146, where evidence is presented to show that bordeaux and other copper sprays increase the starch and nitrogen constituents of the potato tubers and consequently make them more valuable for food and industrial uses.

The bulletin contains considerable data collected from a number of stations doing experimental work with copper sprays on potatoes and should be of interest to the plant physiologists and others doing investigational work of this nature. Results obtained in seven states (Virginia, Maine, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, New York, Connecticut and New Jersey), showed an average of 2,591 pounds of solids of the tubers per acre for the non-copper sprayed plants and 3,430 for the copper-sprayed plants, an average increase of 32.4 per cent, or 48 bushels, due apparently to the use of copper sprays. The results should furnish additional support to the practice of spraying potatoes.

Those interested may secure a copy of this bulletin free of charge upon request from the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Value of Pure Bred Is Taught by County Agent

A county agent in Colorado reported to the United States Department of Agriculture a convincing method he has used in furthering the better-sires work in his county. A butchering and meat-cutting demonstration was given with two market hogs, one a pure-bred Duroc Jersey and the other a scrub red hog. The hogs were weighed, then slaughtered and dressed, and weighed again. The live weight of each hog was practically the same. The dressing percentage of the pure bred was about 7 per cent more than that of the scrub. The good hog figured to be worth $2.10 more than the other. This was but a fraction of the difference in value between the two hogs, however, as the pure bred was but half as old as the scrub hog, and had consumed much less feed.

The meat-cutting demonstration was held in the auditorium of the county school, and more than 500 men and women were present. The two carcasses were cut into the various cuts of meat, showing the superior quality of the meat of the pure-bred hog.

Alfalfa in Full Bloom Will Produce More Hay

Alfalfa cut in full bloom is slightly less palatable but produces more hay than when cut at beginning of bloom. Fields mowed earlier die out sooner. Cutting the alfalfa just when the new growth starts from the crown gives the plants the best chance of competing against weeds and conserves moisture by keeping the ground shaded most of the time. Too late fall cutting promotes winter killing. Nebraska station finds that it does not pay to plant alfalfa in rows and cultivate for hay.

Combination to Provide Pasture for Farm Stock

A combination that will provide a good pasture for sheep, calves and colts all summer may be secured by using rape as a base. The mixture consists of three pounds of rape, one bushel of oats, one-half bushel of one or two other small grains, and from ten to twenty pounds of sorghum. If desired ten pounds of Sudan grass may be substituted for the sorghum with satisfactory results.

Durability of Leather Can Be Much Increased

Specialists in the bureau of chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture, have learned that the durability of machine belts, driving belts, harness, and other leather articles used by the farmer can be greatly increased after a judicious selection in the first place by giving them the care that will strengthen and preserve them.

Rat Viruses Unreliable and Also Quite Costly

"Generally unreliable and costly," the United States Department of Agriculture says of rat viruses. The department has vigorously urged the destruction of rats and co-operated with local rat-killing campaigns. Farmers' Bulletins 896 and 932, issued by the department, describe methods of destroying rats.

Part of the bone has been removed and replaced with a silver plate.

Odd Style of Catching

Some of the old-timers who have seen Wid Matthews of the Philadelphia Athletics go after a fly ball and catch it say he reminds them of the veteran Jimmy Ryan, star outfielder of twenty years ago, in the way he cups his hands and takes a fly close to his body, something after the style of Walter Maranville in taking a popfly.

Detroit Tigers Always Boasted Star Shortstop

Some major league clubs are exceedingly fortunate in developing stars of certain positions.

Take the position of shortstop on the Detroit club, for instance.

In the early days of Hughey Jennings' success at Detroit, Charley O'Leary was one of the most valuable players in the league. Always a great fielder, a fair hitter, dangerous in the pinch, O'Leary helped put Detroit on the map in a baseball sense.

Then came Donie Busch, just as O'Leary was passing out. For years Bush ranked as one of the most brilliant players in either major league at shortstop.

When Bush passed out of the picture, Topper Rigney entered. Cobb predicted great things for Rigney and he has more than made good. After one year in the majors he is regarded as a worthwhile regular, just on the verge of stardom.

As an understudy to Rigney, the spring training trip uncovered a youngster by the name of Kerr. Right now he looks as good, if not better, than Rigney did a year ago.

Pitcher Ed Rommel

Ed Rommel, star twirler for Connie Mack's Athletics, is given credit for getting his team out of the cellar, a position they occupied for quite a while.

Errors on One Play

In the eighth inning of the game at St. Louis on May 10 the Athletics managed to make three errors on one play. Jacobson opened the inning with a single and then Williams singled to center. Matthews fumbled the ball, Jacobson going to third and Williams to second. Matthews, recovering the ball made a wild throw to the infield. Jacobson scored and Williams went to third. Galloway got the ball, threw it away over third base and Williams scored.

DISCOVER SECRET OF LONG GOLF DRIVING

Simply Suppress Muscles Which Are Antagonistic.

The secret of long driving has been discovered, and it is no longer a mystery. Then, again, long driving is not an accomplishment for the favored and select few. Anyone can do it.

A London doctor and a man of science has discovered that the secret of long driving is merely a matter of the elimination of opposing muscles. The perfect shot is obtained by suppressing those groups of muscles antagonistic to other groups that coordinated are responsible for aiming the club at the ball.

There, what could be simpler than that?

If you would be a longer driver, just suppress the evil muscles. The only catch in the explanation is the failure of the learned scientist to say just what the evil muscles are. He explains, however, that these evil muscles are those which behave badly when a conscious effort has a devastating effect on the function of the other muscles.

In other words, the long driver, during the few moments that he is swinging at the ball, must have a mind which is a complete blank. For it is the mind which brings the antagonistic muscle into play and spoils the shot. The conclusion is that brains have no place in golf, especially in long driving, anyway.

Fish Fighting Greatest Sport of Natives of Siam

Dr. Hugh M. Smith, former United States commissioner of fisheries, before he left for Siam, told the following interesting story of customs in the country where he has gone to serve as fisheries adviser.

Dr. Smith said that in Siam one of the national sports is fish fighting. He said, instead of bull fighting, horse racing, baseball and other sports, the native of Siam carries in his hip pocket a little bottle or tube, much like a test tube used by physicians, just large enough to hold a fish about two inches long and water to sustain its life.

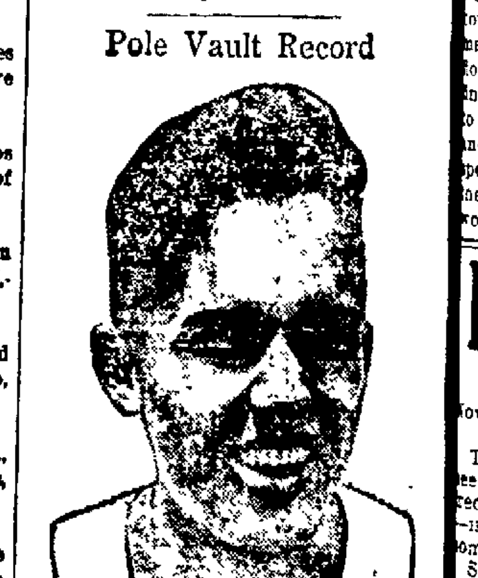
Often when two or more Siamese meet they say, "Let's have a fish fight, I'll bet my fish can beat your fish," and then the fun begins. They hunt for a larger vessel in which to stage the fight. When this has been obtained they fill it with water and put in their pets. The fish dart at each other and continue to push and fight until one or the other is wounded or incapacitated. Dr. Smith says these little fish are very hearty and ferocious and put up a very interesting scrap.

University of Michigan Signs Wrestling Coach

Richard Barker, present head coach of all athletics at Cornell college, Mount Vernon, Iowa, has been engaged as head wrestling coach and assistant football coach at the University of Michigan for next year.

Wrestling will be started as an intercollegiate sport at Michigan for the first time next year, when the completion of the new Yost field house will furnish ample opportunity for the mat game to take its position along with golf, hockey and swimming as regular varsity minor sports.

Pole Vault Record



Harry Smith, nineteen-year-old San Diego high school student, startled athletic experts by establishing a new prep school world record for the pole vault, with a height of 12 feet 11⅞ inches. This mark surpasses the former record by nearly four inches, the former title being held by S. Landers of Minneapolis.

FREEMAN ONE-CENT-A-WORD "WANT" ADLETS

OUND THE GHOST

mparatively Simple Explanation of ppenings Which Had Made the Proverbial "Nine Days' Wonder."

Ghosts are said to walk abroad at ht in country churchyards or to nt old, old houses, or to wander in -off deserted places; but cities have been supposed to be their favorite orts, nor in cities any such public unromantic a place as a lunch- m or restaurant. And so it was h feelings of mingled astonishment dismay that a restaurant keeper this city recently observed what ked like ghostly pranks played upon furniture, employees and patrons, cording to a report of the Engineer- Foundation.

It was seemingly a very modern rt specializing in electrical effects. ted tableware would not stay put, frisked about in unaccountable rs, iron pots rooted themselves to stove, watches were stopped; cus- ers paid just one visit, beheld the nge doings, and fled to return no re. Help was impossible to retain. mething must be done, the ghost st be laid.

Now, it happened that next door was substation of the electric light com- ny, and the restaurateur, observ- the electric qualities of his famil- spirit, guessed that it might some- w have escaped from his proper do- in since it is especially true of ctrical sprites that "stone walls do t a prison make." So he appealed the electric light company to keep own ghosts busy at home.

The manager of the station thought e restaurant man might be "spoof- g" or something, so he decided on personal investigation. It was all o true. Steel table knives set for rvice leaped out of place and re- ained rigidly fixed, giving appre- ensions as to the possible fate of a stomer who attempted to eat with s knife; iron pots needed Sandow ooks to pry them from the stove, and ther weird demonstrations abounded. ut he had the answer. He had found is ghost.

It seems that near the wall on the de of the electric station nearest the staurant were many large electrical onductors, each carrying heavy cur- ents to and from the converters, or ansformers as they are sometimes alled. Now it is a property of an lectric current to produce a mag- tic field, quite similar to that of a g natural magnet, and the "lines of rce" of such a field can pass through brick wall about as easily as through othing at all. Iron articles in such field become themselves magnetized nd try to line up along the lines of rce just as a compass needle lines p with the lines of force of the mag- etism of the earth. The restaurant, r at least much of its hardware, was agnetized.

The remedy was simple. The lines force will pass through bricks, but t through steel, so heavy steel plates ere set up along the wall of the sub- tation toward the restaurant. The ef- ect was magical, the ghost was laid. knives and forks stayed put. One ight eat with one's knife in safety; ustomers were reassured; help was gain obtainable.

Said the restaurant man: "I've eard about this personal magnetism tuff and how to get it. I've had nough, I'll tell the world. No more agnetism in mine, thanks."

And this is the story of the now amous magnetic ghost of Manhattan land.—By Science Service.

ILLINOIS MEN WIN BONUS

Supreme Court Upholds Act Providing for the Allowance of Fifty Cents Per Day.

The close relation existing between the services of the individual soldier of the World war and the general welfare of the state gives rise to a claim appealing to a universal sense of fairness and justice, declared the opinion of the Supreme court of Illinois in upholding the bonus act of that state. The court was unanimous on the constitutionality of the act and by this decision paves the way for 300,000 ex-service men and women to obtain a state bonus.

The Illinois act provides for the payment of 50 cents per day for each day of service in the army, navy or marine corps. The maximum payment which any veteran may draw is $300. To pay the veterans a bond issue of $55,000,000 has been made and will be sold immediately. Palmer D. Edmunds, chief clerk of the board which passes on the bonus applications, has estimated that payment will begin about July 1, and that the former soldiers will be paid at the rate of approximately 24,000 a month. Applications to the number of 220,000 are already on file with the board.

The case in Supreme court, a "friendly suit" brought by the father of a Legion man of Springfield, Ill., attracted much attention. It was the contention of the attorneys for the appellants that the law violated the constitution by granting extra compensation after public service had been rendered.

The opinion of the court, written by Chief Justice Thompson, and without a dissenting vote, held that the recipients of compensation in the case did not come within this specification of the constitution. They, the opinion said, do not stand in the relation of a public officer, agent, servant or contractor of, or with the state, and "that the section has no application here."

The activity of the American Legion in assisting the securing of the passage of the Illinois act is well known. The organization was called on to write the act and was at all times active in moving toward its passage. On the eve of the election by which the voters of the state approved the bond issue to pay compensation, the organization staged a demonstration throughout the state that won thousands of votes. Under advice of the Legion, the ruling was made by the bonus board that all service should be compensated at the specified rate until 1920. The previous acceptance had been for service actually rendered before the armistice.

USED FLOUR TO 'RAISE DOUGH'

Unique Money-Raising Plan Successfully Carried Out by Waukegan (Ill.) Legion Auxiliary.

By use of a unique funding plan, the American Legion Auxiliary at Waukegan, Ill., has succeeded in providing club-room furniture for the Legion post of that city. Little expense was incurred in the campaign and the ladies were able to deliver a sufficient fund to the members of the Legion to completely equip the clubrooms.

A house-to-house canvass was made by the auxiliary women in the interest of a certain brand of flour. When a Waukegan woman was impressed by the "canvass"—and they usually were—they placed an order for a bag of flour, to be delivered at a future date.

On every barrel of flour sold the workers received $1, the goal being set at $1,000, which it is said was realized within a short time. Incidentally, Waukegan grocers were forced to lay in a large stock of the flour to care for the demands from the result of the solicitation of the workers.

TO THOSE IN OCEAN GRAVES

Special Memorial Services Conducted by Legion in Honor of Victims of Sea Warfare.

Those Americans who perished at sea during the World war were paid fitting tribute on Memorial day by the American Legion. Hundreds of Americans went down as sea victims of the submarine and their unmarked graves were remembered.

On the Ticonderoga alone 213 brave Americans went down, and scores of others perished in a similar manner.

Recognition of the sailor's part in the war was paid by numerous posts of the Legion when the members set adrift barks of flowers in memory of those who perished at sea, now resting in wave-swept graves.

Heavy Load for Legion.

Kenesaw Mountain Landis, supreme arbitrator of organized baseball recently predicted that "within five years many supposedly able-bodied veterans will begin to falter because of shock and exposure suffered in the trenches." And he added: "The American Legion is the only body which is taking an active stand for justice to disabled men, and on the Legion will fall the responsibility of seeing that congress does its duty."

COMPILING WORLD WAR DATA

Achievements of Men and Women During Great Conflict to Be Recorded in General History.

Compilation of the achievements of the men and women of the World war, and the establishment of a national historical archives for the preservation of documents and important data concerning the campaigns of the war, is the principal work which has fallen to the office of the national historian of the American Legion.

One of the most recent advances of this important cog in the Legion machine at headquarters in Indianapolis, is the completion of the biographical data of the men whose World war careers and prominence in Legion history will be of interest to Legion men in future years.

Rhea E. Putnam, of Wellesley Farms, Mass., national historian of the organization, whose entire time is demanded in the obtaining of data and records for the continuance of the archives section of the Legion, has delegated much of this work for biographical reference to Harvey G. Thomas, assistant national historian formerly of Monticello, Ind.

Under Mr. Thomas' direction, accumulation of this data concerning nearly 3,000 Legion members throughout the 11,000 posts of the organization in the world is progressing rapidly. Comprehensive questionnaires have been sent out and there is already a mass of this matter in his office, awaiting classification.

In preparation of this general history of the Legion, the history of each post is necessary. Through the state organization, requests are made to the individual posts for names of organizers, dates, the officers since the chartering of the unit, the progress in members annually, all of which points out definitely the leaders in that post. This information is in turn garnered by the department historian, executive committee meetings and conferences. This combined with the post history will give the entire department history. The history of posts and departments will be added to the biographical data obtained by Mr. Thomas, making complete records for a Legion history, publication of which is now contemplated.

Thomas entered the service early in May, 1917. He received a commission of lieutenancy in infantry shortly afterwards and was assigned to the Fifty-eighth infantry, which later became a unit of the Fourth division. He went overseas with this organization and was with the regiment during the Aisne-Marne campaign. Wounded at Fismes, he was returned to the United States, landing on Armistice day, and was retired from the service in July, 1920, with the rank of captain.

FLOWERS ON NURSES' GRAVES

Maj. Julia C. Stimson Makes Trip to Paris to Decorate Last Resting Places.

Honoring the last resting places of eleven American nurses who sleep in Suresnes cemetery in France, an impressive ceremony conducted by United States representatives, and attended by American residents in France, recently marked the decoration of the graves of these brave women. Their bodies lie in the American cemetery, where sleep nearly 1,500 other American World war dead.

The cemetery, now a shrine of American patriotism, was chosen for the services presided over by Maj. Julia C. Stimson, former chief of the American nursing service and a member of the Jane A. Delano post of the American Legion of Washington, D. C. Major Stimson made the trip to France for the purpose of decorating the graves.

Col. Francis A. Drake of Paris represented the American Legion of Continental Europe at the services. Elliott Wadsworth, assistant secretary of the treasury of the United States, was present, as was Col. T. Bentley Mott of the American embassy, and other prominent members of the American colony in Paris. Prayers were recited by Dr. Frederick Beekman of the American church of the Holy Trinity.

Additional Wards Ordered.

An additional ward building has been authorized by the Oklahoma legislature for the Soldiers' Tubercular home at Sulphur, due to the efforts of the American Legion of that state. The legislature also authorized the construction of an additional ward to care for mentally incompetent and shell-shocked veterans at the Norman (Okla.) hospital, another suggestion of the Legionnaires. The expenditures in the two cases will reach $200,000.

Childish Philosophy.

A little girl, aged six, was asked to state the difference between pride and vanity. After considerable thought she replied: "Pride means, 'I don't think much of you'; vanity means, 'What do you think of me?'"—Boston Evening Transcript.

Our Creed

WE believe in furniture that is beautiful in design, correct in style, honest in workmanship and sound in value. We believe that our reputation as a quality furniture store is our greatest asset. We believe that furniture was never more beautifully designed nor better made than at the present time. We believe that furniture has never been offered in such great variety, nor for such reasonable prices as in this country today. We believe in the good taste and discrimination of the American people, and in the progressive demand for "Better Homes".

And because we subscribe to this creed we invite you to utilize our stock of fine American furniture in realizing your ideals of the perfectly furnished modern home.

The Romance of Furniture

THE collecting of Oriental porcelains became such a fad in England during the reign of Queen Anne that glass-door china closets became highly popular.

INSECTS BREED IN MILLIONS

Progeny of Some Flies Might Even Be Counted in Billions, Before the End of One Summer.

The wonderful profusion with which she distributes living things is one of nature's most astonishing feats.

We are accustomed to regard as fairly densely populated with human beings: our own country, for example, contains nearly 50,000,000; China about 400,000,000, and the whole world nearly 2,000,000,000 men, women and children, says London Tit-Bits

But mankind is one of the smallest of nature's races. A single cupful of pond water may contain more living creatures—not counting microbes or plants—than the entire human population of the earth!

Prof. J. Arthur Thomson has declared that there are at least 2,500,000 different kinds of insects and it is certain that the insects of the world, if all were put into one gigantic scale pan, would easily outweigh the whole of the rest of the population, both human and animal.

The greenfly that destroys our rosebushes breeds at a stupendous rate. All those we see are females and they give birth every few days to teeming broods of youngsters, which are full-grown in a matter of hours.

Huxley calculated that if the progeny of a single greenfly all survived and bred, they would in one summer outweigh every man, woman and child in China. It is lucky that the greenfly's enemies—chiefly young ladybirds—have appetites sufficient to keep the pest in check.

New Device of Value.

An interesting push-and-pull jack has been developed recently, which is intended primarily for straightening center sills on the draft-gear end of railroad cars—the sides of steel gondola cars frequently becoming distorted with heavy usage—either by pushing apart or pulling them together where bent.

Bawl-Bearing.

Western Ad.—Mother of noiseless child of six desires employment as cook.—Boston Evening Transcript.

Senator Edge.

Advertising, in lieu of ambassadors, would make America and its ideals and purposes better understood abroad, according to United States Senator Walter Evans Edge, Republican, of New Jersey. He told that to members of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, in annual session at Atlantic City, New Jersey. "Lord knows," he added, "we need a better understanding with our friends overseas."

BRINGS BACK FRONTIER DAY

Relic Recalls the Time When In[dian] Raids Were an Ever-Present Terror to the Settler.

Several years ago a rusted leg [iron] was found near Snake Butte, [...] miles north of Pierre, S. D., and [...] which the Black and Yellow tra[il] strikes north. Besides the iron was also found a file. The iron was place[d] in the state museum, although there was nothing of historic interest at[tached] to it at the time, and [...] now the finder is unknown.

Recently Thomas Tuttle, an [edu]cated Yanktonnais Indian from F[ort] Thompson, was going through the state house looking at the relics in the museum, accompanied by an older [In]dian, Okasake—the Whipper, who w[as] much interested in the collectio[n]. Okasake at once recognized the ir[on] and told the dramatic circumstances surrounding it, as follows, says the Evening Huronite.

In the autumn of 1868 a scout co[mpany] of Yanktonnais in the government em[ploy] was located near Snake Butt[e]. One of the scouts was lying on the peak of the butte as a sentinel, [when] this man noticed some Indians a[p]proaching from the north. He watche[d] the approaching Indians and soon di[s]covered they were Santees, being T[wo] Bull and his son and a nephew on a horse stealing exploit to the fort.

The Yanktonnais scouts spread o[ut] and captured the Santees, turned the[m] over to the soldiers at Fort Scully and they were placed in irons. Soon after[ward] Two Bull's nephew escaped, b[ut] blundered into the Yanktonnais ca[mp] at the butte and again was capture[d]. A council was held and it was pr[o]posed to put the captured man [to] death, but it developed that he w[as] a near relative of one of the scout[s], therefore it was determined to set hi[m] at liberty.

The young man still wore the le[g] irons which had been put on him [at] the fort. He succeeded in removi[ng] them by driving the rivets with the ai[d] of a file which he used as a punch. [In] his flight he dropped the irons wh[ere] they were found years afterward.

Rug Weaving Lost Art.

Home industry is about gone. F[ew] women bake their own week's supp[ly] of bread in Detroit, or even in the smaller towns of the state where the influence of machine production is le[ss]. And there is almost no one left w[ho] can weave a rag rug. The Americ[an] rug is the rag rug. And the bag [of] carpet rags which used to hang in the house was as much of an institut[ion] as the woodbox.

Women used to weave their o[wn] rag rugs in many homes years a[go]. Quilt tying is a similar custom whi[ch] has been slower to die.

There is not even a little rag [rug] in the home in these days of lar[ge] scale industry. If there is a rag b[ag] it is for hat trimming, not for ra[gs]. And the few modest weaving sho[ps] scattered around Detroit, with a r[ug] hanging in the front window, are quaint and old-fashioned in their [at]mosphere as a violin maker's shop.

The making of rag rugs, howe[ver] has been carried to the point of [art] by a few and in spite of the fact the art will survive.

Flower Petals Form Dove.

There is a peculiar flower grow[ing] in Central America which bears in the center of the petals a snow-white [im]age of a dove. The Spaniards, [on] discovering this peculiar bloss[om] called it the Holy Ghost flower, [and] soon created a tradition according [to] which it came down from heaven.

DUSTIN FARNUM in "BUCKING THE BARRIER."

Mary R. Schwab.

Almost unbelievable is the story of the rise to success of Mrs. Mary [illegible] Schwab, of San Francisco. Once a tiny, ragged news-girl, helping a large family to eke out an uncertain living, she has progressed to the position of assistant city attorney in the coast municipality. All during the years she labored—as a news-girl, sales-girl, factory-hand and stenographer—she studied, educating herself finally to the point at which she won admittance to the bar. Her success since then has occasioned admiring comment.

GLORY OF "SHAD"

New Jersey Town Lives in Its Ancient Memories.

Nowhere Was Such a Dish, Prepared as It Should Be, Placed Before a Hungry Diner.

Gloucester's three centuries are well worth a celebration.

Dame history can call a long roll of interesting things which have happened there since Captain May, tagging with his own name the cape at the bay, first sailed up the noble Delaware.

But I shall mention only one of Gloucester's glories—the shad. Other places between Philadelphia and the sea cast their big and little nets every spring.

Other towns boasted of their abilities to plank the shad, others had their own devices for alluring the expectant to their tables to partake of the world's prize dish, but Gloucester rose to heights which I am sure must have caused old Mr. Epicure himself to applaud in his grave.

For years Gloucester made everybody think of planked shad. Planked shad made everybody think at once of Gloucester.

Those unfortunates who never ate a shad planked in true olden-time Gloucester style can only know by hearsay what a fish may be, "Girard" writes in the Philadelphia Inquirer.

There are those who speak of the lake whitefish as a thing for the gods to rave about.

Others insist that the sole, as prepared in Parisian restaurants, is the MacGregor of the finny tribe.

The big muskellunge has its boosters and a few, although their preferences are hard to understand, pretend the brook trout has a delicacy which no other thing coming from the waters, salt or fresh, can rival. Alas! They never ate a Gloucester shad.

Once you feasted upon that royal specialty of Jersey's ancient town, thereafter you spoke of fish and shad. The two were never again confounded.

Religious rites will take pilgrims a bit farther perhaps than the rite of the planked shad ever drew a hungry world to Gloucester, but they have been much the same.

My city editor once assigned me to go down to Gloucester on a nice Sunday afternoon in May and count the glasses of beer that were sold. Counting bullets as they came from a machine gun would be easier.

Gloucester was then gay and giddy, well fed and thoroughly saturated, but everything else really paled before the magnificence of the planked shad.

When that golden brown monarch appeared riding upon his stout chariot of properly seasoned wood and surrounded by his score of servitors such as young onions, new potatoes and home-grown strawberries, trouble took a holiday and care went away on a vacation.

William Penn himself recorded the delights he experienced with Delaware shad.

That bold warrior, Col. Anthony Morris, long afterward said that shad sold for $2.50 a hundred.

A century ago a fine big shad could be bought in Philadelphia for from six to eight cents. Shad catching was then a live industry every spring.

The season was usually from April 1 to June 10. The big seine, such as that used at Gloucester, has a sweep of half a mile, and often brought in after a long hour's pull upward of a thousand shad.

It was customary to make five hauls in twenty-four hours. When the tide ran low the herrings were caught in immense quantities.

Sturgeon fishing has also been an important industry on the Delaware. The roe of the Delaware sturgeon makes that fine "Russian caviar" which you see mentioned so frequently on restaurant cards.

Nerve Timing.

A curious instance of the care and minuteness with which the human body is now studied, in the effort better to understand its powers and functions, is furnished by a paper read at a meeting of the Royal society in London on "The Rapidity of the Nervous Impulse in Tall and Short Individuals."

Even the difference in time required for a "nerve telegram" to traverse the bodies of different persons is regarded as a matter of scientific importance. A series of observations has shown that the length of the nerves does affect the velocity with which an impulse passes between the brain and the extremities and consequently that more time is needed if the path is long than if it is short. It follows that a short man should feel a step on his corns quicker than a tall one, but the difference is so slight that the offender has no better chance of escape in one case than in the other.—New York Herald.

Satisfactory Love Affair.

When I was about eight years old I went to the city to visit my aunt. There I met my first love. He took me to movies and out ice skating. When I was about to leave the city I told my lover about it, and I expected he'd be at the station to say good-by. Instead he was waiting for me to come out of the house. A group of boys were with him, and they all yelled, "Aw, look who's going to the country." This made me angry. Ten years passed. I again visited in the city. Again I met my lover. Not many days passed when he proposed. —Exchange.

When Tumblers Stick.

When two glass tumblers stick together so that there is danger of breakage in separating them, put cold water in the inner one and place the outer one in warm water. They will come apart at once.—Designer Magazine.

BOND BETWEEN MAN AND DOG

Something Subtle in the Manner in Which the Lower Animal Will Recognize a Friend.

With hind legs stretched out on the chauffeur's knees and forepaws resting on the door of the car, the terrier was snoozing in the mid-day sun. The chauffeur apparently was accepted as a good pal who had the good sense not to disturb one's nap. A sudden tremor went through the dog's sturdy little body. Then he went limp in that peculiar dog fashion that expresses extreme and complete joy.

The limpness seemed to start at his perky little ears, melt right down the wiry-haired length of his broad, short back and exude at the comical tip of his sturdy tail. The chauffeur looked about in astonishment. Only strangers were passing the automobile.

Then he noticed a tall, smiling man who had paused a few feet from the car and was looking at the dog, a New York Sun writer states. The dog was looking back at him as well as that ridiculous limp wriggle of his body would allow his eyes to focus. The man approached and patted the terrier, who frantically licked his hand in return. One had a sense of two friends meeting after a long time with much to tell each other. For a moment the chauffeur wore a blank expression of an outsider on the conversation.

Then the man addressed him quite as a third party. If it hadn't been for that smile of his, with its peculiar quality of understanding, the chauffeur might have thought him stern.

"I'm going to run off with your dog," he said.

"Don't do that, sir," protested the chauffeur, half deceived by the man's natural tone of quiet authority. "His mistress thinks the world of him, and it would sure get me in bad if he got lost. Did you ever know him before? He acts like you were an old friend."

"Never saw him before that I know of," said the man, ruffling the dog's coat playfully.

"Can you beat that, now!" exclaimed the chauffeur. "Just seems to be a case of love at first sight."

The man nodded thoughtfully. "I've had a lot of good dog friends," he said, reminiscently, and with a parting tweek of a perky gray ear, he went on his way. At the next crossing he looked back. The terrier was peering far out over the edge of the car, all limpness gone, and with alert attention in every wiry hair as he watched his unknown friend out of sight.

Where Is Gehenna?

There have been numerous speculations as to the exact locality of the Garden of Eden, and some investigators have sought to determine the situation of Heaven itself. Others have tried to find the abode of the lost—without a course going thither. The latest would-be discoverer of the infernal regions is Dr. Bautz of Munich, who, after long researches believes he has solved the problem.

Some seekers have thought, on insufficient proof, that they could discern the kingdom of Lucifer in the moon; some in the sun; others on Mars; but the estimable Dr. Bautz has changed all this. According to him, hell occupies the center of the earth, and in order that the earth should not be blown up, which would be disagreeable for its inhabitants, openings have been created, which are no other than the volcanoes. As regards earthquakes, these are caused by the movement of the flames and the convulsions of the damned. Thus everything is clearly explained to the satisfaction of Dr. Bautz.

Philosophizing.

Henry Holt, publisher, writes in the New York Herald:

"The story of all that I have heard which comes up to me oftenest is:

"'Sam, you keep on chawin' so much tobakker, an' yu'll nevah be an ole man.'

"'Well, dad, yu's pretty middlin' ole, an' yu's allus chawed a lot o' tobakker. How ole is yer, anyway?'

"'Well, Sam, I s'pecs I's about eighty, but if I hadn't nevah chawed no tobakker I mout be a hun'erd by dis time.'

"If you care to know, too, the most remarkable concentration of wit and wisdom that I know, it is Thackeray's 'Women are always sacrificing themselves or somebody else for somebody.'"

National Debts.

The following facts were brought out in the house discussion on the amendment to the debt-funding act. Great Britain's total debt is above $35,000,000,000. That of the United States is between $22,000,000,000 and $25,000,000,000. The average taxation a head in Great Britain is about $100. In the United States it is between $50 and $55. The total wealth of the United States is estimated as somewhere between $220,000,000,000 and $280,000,000,000; that of Great Britain is about $80,000,000,000. There is owing to Great Britain from her war allies about $7,000,000,000, unfunded and without prospect of payments.—Independent.

Italy Developing Water Power.

Italy plans to develop 75 per cent of her available water power within a year. All sources of water power are to be linked up so that when water is scarce in the north in winter the power can be conveyed from central Italy, and in the summer when the water is scarce in the central part of Italy the power can be obtained from the Alpine streams of the north.

The Ananias Club.

"No, Harold," said the flapper to her sheik, who had called up, "I can't go out with you tonight. Mother looked so tired I promised to wash up the supper dishes and then do the family mending for her tonight."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

K. H. S. NINE FACES TEST SATURDAY

After a series of three easy games, the K. H. S. baseball club will be put to a severe test this Saturday. Hard drilling has been in form for the locals this week, and they have come through with some of their old time enthusiasm, working hard to eliminate all chances of making errors in Saturday's crucial game. Newburgh Academy will be here Saturday, and they are coming full force. Newburgh has a strong team, also. This is a league game, and its outcome will practically decide the winner of the baseball trophy of the D-U-S-O Athletic League. Both teams have won two league games apiece and lost none, which indicates some strenuous work on both sides in the coming match.

Just how Kingston will line up in this contest has not yet been definitely decided, as it is not yet known how the players are fixed. The probabilities are, however, that the regular team will take the field.

The game will be staged on the Fair Grounds, starting early in the afternoon in order to get through in time for the Colonials' match.

How Portugal Makes Her Citizens Thoughtful of the Value of Her Forests.

Travelers in Portugal report that in many places where timber trees are to be found—in woods, parks and gardens—one sees the following inscription, headed "To the Wayfarer."

"Ye who pass by and would raise your hand against me, harken ere you harm me.

"I am the heat of your hearth on the cold winter nights, the friendly shade screening you from the summer sun, and my fruits are refreshing draughts, quenching your thirst as you journey on.

"I am the beam that holds your house, the board of your table, the bed on which you lie, and the timber that builds your boat.

"I am the handle of your hoe, the door of your homestead, the wood of your cradle, and the shell of your coffin.

"I am the bread of kindness and the flower of beauty.

"Ye who pass by, listen to my prayer; harm me not."

Nature's Wonderful Work.

A pair of rats will have 100 young ones in a year, and as the young can breed at the age of four months, the family, including children and grandchildren, would number, if unchecked, 2,012 in a year. It seems that nature first invented ways of letting animals multiply rapidly and then, becoming frightened of her handiwork, devised means for keeping them in check.

But these figures are as nothing when we turn to the lower walks of life. Professor Lorande observed one family of tiny microscopic creatures for five years. These minute things multiply by the simple process of splitting up into two complete living parts, and they do it once every sixteen hours.

During the five years the family produced millions of generations. Had all survived their combined mass would have been 10,000 times as big as that of the earth.

Easily Answered.

"What is the dangerous age?" asks a writer. This is.—Columbia Record.

WAGNER MEMORIAL COLLEGE TRUSTEES MET IN NEW YORK

The Rev. A. Schmidtkonz spent Monday and Tuesday in New York, where he attended a meeting of the board of trustees of the Wagner Memorial Lutheran College at Staten Island. Wagner College is a Lutheran institution which aims to give men a liberal arts training to prepare them for further specialized studies for the ministry, teaching, or other professions. Its course is primarily in the classical arts, modeled after curriculums of standard American colleges. There is an academic or preparatory department of four years and a college department of four additional years. The chief advantage claimed by this institution is that it aims to develop the complete man—to give him a straight character as well as a well-equipped mind. The students are under a wise, broad Christian influence which tends to endow a man morally, a phase of education often neglected in larger institutions. The healthful location of the college, overlooking the ocean, on one of the highest points along the Atlantic coast, is also a decided advantage. The institution boasts of a campus of thirty-eight acres of property and fine buildings, that is rarely equalled for beauty in the whole United States.
